It is an extension of the Kodály philosophy: everything starts with singing to develop inner hearing. Central to the approach is the role of play and imagination; often the value of play can be overlooked in the rush to get on with the real lesson. Colourstrings is a Kodály-based child-centred approach to music education that has been in existence since the early 1970s. Its originators, the Hungarian brothers Géza and Csaba Szilvay, revolutionised music education in Finland to such an extent that Colourstrings has become an integral part of the state music school system there. Colourstrings has gained an outstanding reputation for the skill of its teachers, the success of its students and the inspiring ideas that drive it. This excellent method for the young musical generation has proved to be really very successful. It is by now a fully established method and has already produced many fine string players.
