Visual Time The Image In History:

Visual Time Keith Moxey, 2013-06-17 Examining the notion of time in art history Keith Moxey argues that looking at a work of art creates an experience of time for the viewer distinct from the work's place in the history of art Doing History Linda S. Levstik, Keith C. Barton, 2022-09-06 Now in its sixth edition Doing History offers a unique perspective on teaching and learning history in the elementary and middle grades Through case studies of teachers and students in diverse classrooms and from diverse backgrounds it shows children engaging in authentic historical investigations often in the context of an integrated social studies curriculum The book is grounded in the view that children can engage in valid forms of historical inquiry asking questions collecting and analyzing evidence examining the varied perspectives and experiences of people in the past and creating evidence based historical accounts and interpretations Grounded in contemporary sociocultural theory and research the text features vignettes in each chapter showing communities of teachers and students doing history in environments rich in literature art writing and discussion The authors explain how these classrooms reflect contemporary principles of teaching and learning and thus the descriptions not only provide specific examples of successful activities but also place them in a context that allows teachers to adapt and apply them in a wide range of settings Doing History emphasizes diversity in two ways Readers encounter students from a variety of backgrounds and see how their diverse experiences can form the foundation for learning and they also see examples of how teachers can engage students with diverse experiences and perspectives in the past including those that led to conflict and oppression The book also discusses principles for working with English learners and newcomers and it provides guidance in using multiple forms of assessment to evaluate the specifically historical aspects of children's learning Updates to this edition include updated historical and instructional examples to ensure currency new suggestions for children's literature to support good teaching expanded attention to teaching about oppressed groups in history and greater attention to when historical perspective taking is and is not appropriate History and Art History Nicholas Chare, Mitchell B. Frank, 2020-11-29 Through a series of cross disciplinary and interdisciplinary interventions leading international scholars of history and art history explore ways in which the study of images enhances knowledge of the past and informs our understanding of the present Spanning a diverse range of time periods and places the contributions cumulatively showcase ways in which ongoing dialogue between history and art history raises important aesthetic ethical and political questions for the disciplines The volume fosters a methodological awareness that enriches exchanges across these distinct fields of knowledge This innovative book will be of interest to scholars in art history cultural studies history visual culture and historiography Time Joel Burges, Amy Elias, 2016-08-02 The critical condition and historical motivation behind Time Studies The concept of time in the post millennial age is undergoing a radical rethinking within the humanities Time A Vocabulary of the Present newly theorizes our experiences of time in relation to developments in post 1945 cultural theory and arts practices Wide ranging and theoretically provocative the volume introduces readers to cutting edge temporal conceptualizations and investigates what exactly constitutes the scope of time studies Featuring twenty essays that reveal what we talk about when we talk about time today especially in the areas of history measurement and culture each essay pairs two keywords to explore the tension and nuances between them from past future and anticipation unexpected to extinction adaptation and serial simultaneous Moving beyond the truisms of postmodernism the collection newly theorizes the meanings of temporality in relationship to aesthetic cultural technological and economic developments in the postwar period This book thus assumes that time not space as the postmoderns had it is central to the contemporary period and that through it we can come to terms with what contemporaneity can be for human beings caught up in the historical present In the end Time reveals that the present is a cultural matrix in which overlapping temporalities condition and compete for our attention Thus each pair of terms presents two temporalities yielding a generative account of the time or times in which we live Art to Come Terry

Smith,2019-09-06 In Art to Come Terry Smith who is widely recognized as one of the world's leading historians and theorists of contemporary art traces the emergence of contemporary art and further develops his concept of contemporaneity Smith shows that embracing contemporaneity as both a historical concept and a condition of the globalized world allows us to grasp how contemporary art exists in a fluid space of increasing interdependencies multiple contemporaneous modernities and persistent inequalities Throughout these essays Smith offers systematic proposals for writing contemporary art's histories while assessing how curators critics philosophers artists and art historians are currently doing so Among other topics Smith examines the intersection of architecture with other visual arts Chinese art since the Cultural Revolution how philosophers are theorizing concepts associated with the contemporary Australian Indigenous art and the current state of art history Art to Come will be essential reading for artists art students curators gallery workers historians critics and theorists A Brief

the active relationship among the mechanics of memory visual practices and historical narratives Reflection on memory and its ties with historical narratives cannot be separated from reflection on the visual and the image as its points of reference which function in time This volume addresses precisely that temporal aspect of the image without reducing it to a neutral trace of the past a mnemotechnical support of memory As a commemorative device the image fixes structures and crystalizes memory turning the view of the past into myth It may however also stimulate transform and update memory functioning as a matrix of interpretation and understanding the past The book questions whether the functioning of the visual matrices of memory can be related to a particular historical and geographical scope that is to Central and Eastern Europe and whether it is possible to find their origin and decide if they are just local and regional or perhaps also Western European and universal It focuses on the artistic reflection on time and history in the reconstructions of memory due to change of frontiers and political regimes as well as endeavours to impose some specific political structure on territories which were complex and mixed in terms of national identity religion and social composition The volume is ideal for students and scholars of memory studies history and visual studies

The Virtual Window Anne Friedberg, 2009-02-13 From the Renaissance idea of the painting as an open window to the nested windows and multiple images on today's cinema television and computer screens a cultural history of the metaphoric literal and virtual window As we spend more and more of our time staring at the screens of movies televisions computers and handheld devices windows full of moving images texts and icons how the world is framed has become as important as what is in the frame In The Virtual Window Anne Friedberg examines the window as metaphor as architectural component and as an opening to the dematerialized reality we see on the screen In De pictura 1435 Leon Battista Alberti famously instructed painters to consider the frame of the painting as an open window Taking Alberti's metaphor as her starting point Friedberg tracks shifts in the perspectival paradigm as she gives us histories of the architectural window developments in glass and transparency and the emerging apparatuses of photography cinema television and digital imaging Single point perspective Alberti's metaphorical window has long been challenged by modern painting modern architecture and moving image technologies And yet notes Friedberg for most of the twentieth century the dominant form of the moving image was a single image in a single frame The fractured modernism exemplified by cubist painting for example remained largely confined to experimental avant garde work On the computer screen however where multiple windows coexist and overlap perspective may have met its end In this wide ranging book Friedberg considers such topics as the framed view of the camera obscura Le Corbusier's mandates for the architectural window Eisenstein's opinions on the shape of the movie screen and the multiple images and nested windows commonly displayed on screens today The Virtual Window proposes a new logic of visibility framed and virtual an architecture not only of space but of time
