history particularly in the genre of short stories Chekhov's major innovation near the end of the 19th century was in what became known as stream of consciousness writing in which he eschewed common traditional story structure and simply wrote as though he was thinking aloud Renowned writers like James Joyce and William Faulkner would eventually run with this theme producing classics in the same vein Chekhov was one of Russia's most famous and popular writers in his time producing well received works like The Lady with the Dog and The Bishop The Witch and Other Stories Anton Pavlovich Chekhov, Constance Black Garnett, 2012-12-14 The Canonised writers of the past have a tendency to assume a fixed expression in their readers' imaginations Dostoevsky always appears in the same aura of morbidly enthralling hysteria Proust in the same velvety atmosphere of hyper attuned sensory receptiveness To think of Tolstoy is to conjure at once the note of impassive grandeur as of creation being set out in glittering ranks for inspection Anton Chekhov whose short career was as momentous as any of these has his own distinct tone and manner but the impression it leaves is curiously elusive offering reticence and hesitation in place of personality and a series of moods rather than a discernible attitude to life even the attitude of uncertainty This elusiveness a feature of both the life and the work is a large part of what gives him his enduring fascination as well as his striking modernity In Chekhov literature seems to break its wand like Prospero renouncing the magic of artifice ceremony and idealisation and facing us for the first time with a reflection of ourselves in our unadorned ordinariness as well as our unfathomable strangeness The Witch Anton Pavlovich Chekhov, 1918
