Women Creating Women Patricia Boyle Haberstroh, 1996-02-01 Women Creating Women is a pioneering exploration of contemporary Irish women poets that should provide a frame of reference for all future discussion of this topic Patricia Haberstroh focuses on five poets in particular beginning with Eithne Strong and Nuala Ní Dhomhnaill both of whom still write in the Irish language each emphasizing the importance of the female perspective on the human experience She then turns her attention to three of the best known contemporary poets Eavan Boland the most highly esteemed Medbh McGuckian the most difficult and original and Eilean Ni Chuilleanain whose poems make some of the stronger statements about the need to balance a male with a female perspective to broaden the human vision Drawing on a wide reading of the poets works and extensive personal interviews with them Haberstroh demonstrates the emergence of a more self conscious and self confident female poet who is ready to rewrite the story of Irish women and redefine and explore female identity and the image of women in Irish history culture and literature Her final chapter explores Irish women's poetry since 1980 This book is a celebration of poets poetry and Ireland that allows the reader to discover the works of these fine poets A

Gonzalez, 1999-09-30 So many male critics have attacked Ireland's contemporary women poets whether through hostile reviews outright silence or condescending praise that the impression has been created that very few men appreciate these women's poetry Gonzalez has produced the first book ever to appear in Irish studies in which men make it a point to praise literature written by Irish women Included are two essays studying the structure of Eavan Boland's poetry sequences some close readings of Medbh McGuckian's most challenging poems and the first formal scholarly pieces ever devoted exclusively to Paula Meehan Rita Ann Higgins and Mary O'Malley Additional chapters treat the works of Eilean Ni Chuilleanain and Nuala Ni Dhomhnaill Women poets have made substantial contributions to Irish literature particularly in the last few decades However so many male critics have attacked Ireland's women poets whether through hostile reviews outright silence or condescending praise that the impression has been created that very few men appreciate these women's poetry With some notable exceptions most academic appraisals by men have been less than enthusiastic Many women also point to the treatment these poets receive in various anthologies which typically include only token portions of literature written by women In his book Gonzalez has responded to these slights by offering a forum to a significant number of men to express their highest praise for Ireland's women poets Until now no book has ever appeared in Irish studies in which men make it a point to praise literature written by Irish women In this book Gonzalez includes two essays on each of Ireland's best known women poets Eavan Boland Eilean Ni Chuilleanain Nuala Ni Dhomhnaill and Medbh McGuckian Three other essays are the first formal scholarly pieces entirely dedicated to Paula Meehan Rita Ann Higgins or Mary O'Malley In his pioneering effort Gonzalez helps establish the place of these contemporary women poets in the Irish literary canon corrects the popular misconception that male critics are unresponsive to their works and encourages further exploration of Irish women poets by male scholars and critics The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish Poetry Fran Brearton, Alan Gillis, 2012-10-25 Forty chapters written by leading scholars across the world describe the latest thinking on modern Irish poetry The Handbook begins with a consideration of Yeats's early work and the legacy of the 19th century The broadly chronological areas which follow covering the period from the 1910s through to the 21st century allow scope for coverage of key poetic voices in Ireland in their historical and political context From the experimentalism of Beckett MacGreevy and others of the modernist generation to the refashioning of Yeats's Ireland on the part of poets such as MacNeice Kavanagh and Clarke mid century through to the controversially titled post 1969 Northern Renaissance of poetry this volume will provide extensive coverage of the key movements of the modern period The Handbook covers the work of among others Paul Durcan Thomas Kinsella Brendan Kennelly Seamus Heaney Paul Muldoon Michael Longley Medbh McGuckian and Ciaran Carson The thematic sections interspersed throughout chapters on women's poetry, religion, translation, painting, music, stylistics, allow for comparative studies of poets north and south across the century. Central to the guiding spirit of this project is the Handbook's consideration of poetic forms and a number of essays explore the generic diversity of poetry in Ireland, its various manipulations, reinventions, and sometimes repudiations of traditional forms. The last essays in the book examine the work of a new generation of poets from Ireland, concentrating on work published in the last two decades by Justin Quinn, Leontia Flynn, Sinead Morrissey, David Wheatley, Vona Groarke, and others.

Postcolonial and Gender Perspectives in Irish Studies Marisol Morales Ladrón, 2007. This book represents an attempt to tackle questions related to fragmented and often conflicting ideologies within Irish studies. Although a collective outcome with contributions in English and Spanish, its unifying concern has been the appliance of postcolonial and gender perspectives to the analysis of Irish literature, prose, drama, and verse, and cinema, as well as to the aesthetic production of both the Republic of Ireland and Northern Ireland. Along the volume, while some authors have chosen to delve into the broad theoretical debate concerning the position of Irish studies within postcolonial and feminist theories, others offer detailed examinations of specific literary pieces and authors that fit in this panorama. All in all, the chapters are wide and diverse enough to trace a spatial and temporal map of the evolution of these paradigms within contemporary Irish studies. North and South of the border.

A History of Irish Women's Poetry Ailbhe Darcy, David Wheatley, 2021-07-01. A History of Irish Women's Poetry is a ground-breaking and comprehensive account of Irish women's poetry from earliest times to the present day. It reads Irish women's poetry through many prisms: mythology, gender, history, the nation, and most importantly, close readings of the poetry itself. It covers major figures such as Míre Ní Mháic, Máire Eavan Boland, Eilín O'Connell, and Nuala O'Connor, as well as neglected figures from the past. Writing in both English and Irish, it is considered and close attention paid to the many different contexts in which Irish women's poetry has been produced and received from the anonymous work of the early medieval period through the bardic age the coterie poets of Anglo Ireland the nationalist balladeers of Young Ireland the Irish Literary Revival and the advent of modernity As capacious as it is diverse this book is an essential contribution to scholarship in the field Austerity and Irish Women's Writing and Culture, 1980-2020 Deirdre Flynn,Ciara L.
