Muslim Women in Austria and Germany Doing and Undoing Gender Constanze Volkmann, 2018-10-01 Constanze Volkmann develops an innovative new gender theory labeled doing and undoing gender Based on empirical findings she examines the highly debated intersection of gender and Islam The analysis of interviews with various Muslim women unravels the many different ways in which gender is done and undone Especially with regard to potential gender hierarchies the results reveal that the category gender is irrelevant to many Muslim women and is even used as a means to foster their status and power as women This book makes a substantial contribution to a differentiated social debate at eye level with Muslim women

Re-negotiating Gender Lake Lui, 2012-09-03 In Chinese societies where both money and gender confer power can a woman's economic success relative to her husband's bring about a more equal division of household labor Lui's qualitative study of status reversed Hong Kong families wherein wives earn more than their husbands examines how couples re negotiate household labor in ways that perpetuate male dominance within the family even when the traditional gender expectation that men rule outside women rule inside nanzhuwai nuzhunei is challenged Going beyond the dyadic negotiation of household labor this important study also explores the role of third parties namely the couples children and parents who actively encourage couples to conform to traditional gender norms thereby reproducing an unequal division of household labor Based upon the experiences of families with stay at home dads Lui further identifies a new mechanism of deconstructing gender by which couples concertedly construct new norms of work and gender that they maintain through daily interactions to fit their atypical relative earnings As a result there are sparks of hope that both men and women can be liberated from a set of traditional social norms
