Waffle Slab Design Guide:

Structural Design Guide to the ACI Building Code Edward S. Hoffman, David P. Gustafson, Albert J. Gouwens, 2013-03-09

This book is intended to guide practicing structural engineers familiar with earlier ACI building codes into more profitable routine designs with the ACI 1995 Building Code ACI 318 95 Each new ACI Building Code expresses the latest knowledge of reinforced concrete in legal language for safe design application Beginning in 1956 with the introduction of ultimate strength design each new code offered better utilization of high strength reinforcement and the compressive strength of the concrete itself Each new code thus permitted more economy as to construction material but achieved it through more detailed and complicated design calculations In addition to competition requiring independent structural engineers to follow the latest code for economy it created a professional obligation to follow the latest code for accepted levels of structural safety The increasing complexity of codes has encouraged the use of computers for design and has stimulated the development of computer based handbooks Before computer software can be successfully used in the structural design of buildings preliminary sizes of structural elements must be established from handbook tables estimates or experienced first guesses for input into the computer

Recommendations for the design of flat slabs in post tension concrete using unbonded and bonded tendons

FIB - International Federation for Structural Concrete, 1980-05-01 These recommendations present a guide to the design of two way spanning post tensioned concrete flat slabs using unbonded or bonded tendons Recommendations purely related to the use of unbonded tendons are clearly marked These recommendations are intended only for the design of post tensioned flat slabs in buildings and do not include the use in bridges Post tensioned concrete construction can be defined as unbonded or bonded depending on whether the tendon ducts are filled with a cement grout in order to provide a bonded structure or whether the tendons are suitably coated and wrapped or greased and plastic covered unbonded While in a number of countries e g United States and Canada economic and construction considerations have resulted in the selection of unbonded tendons in other countries the use of the traditional bonded tendons is favoured e g Australia Some of the advantages claimed for the use of unbonded tendons can be summarized as follows Extremely low friction values tendons are fully protected against corrosion during construction maximum possible tendon drape due to the small diameter of the tendon this is of major importance in slender structures such as flat plates simple and fast placement of the tendons avoidance of grouting operations When tendons are grouted after stressing the claimed advantages are particularly that the bond between the concrete structure and the tendons increases the ultimate strength and less reliance is placed on the long term adequacy of the anchorage
