Abstract:

The term mass media refers to the means of public communication reaching a large audience. Media access refers to the ability of members of the society to make use of a particular medium to send messages of a particular medium. Writers often develop their own methods for creating their stories. Most successful writers work through a number of steps as they write and these comprise what is known as the writing process. Story tellers deal with both fiction and nonfiction. Story teller journalists must confine their attention only to non fiction, that which is real, factual and relatively objective. Creative writers, as you know, employ elements of of story telling in short stories and novels both of which are strong narrative forms. The big idea is the creative concept around which the entire writing materials and advertising campaigns revolves and behind the creative concept is the execution of the idea, which also has to be handled creatively.

Introduction:

Journalism is a discipline of collecting, analysing, verifying and presenting information regarding current events, trends, issues and people. The role of journalism as helping define community, creating common language and common knowledge, identifying a community's goal heroes and villains and pushing people beyond complacency."

Media is a term referring to those organised means of dissemination of facts, opinions, , entertainment and other information, such as newspapers, magazines, advertising, cinema, radio, television, the world wide web.

The term "mass media" refers to to the means of public communication reaching a large
