Midwestern Advisory Committee on Higher Education,1970 Multilevel Pedagogical Leadership in Higher Education Janne Elo,Michael Uljens,2024-04-13

This Open Access book addresses the theoretical grounding of the pedagogical dimensions of higher education leadership and its empirical study. The book's general point of departure is that educational leadership is a multi-level phenomenon operating as policy work on a transnational and national level as educational leadership on various organizational levels and as supervision and teaching on an interactional level. It is in and through these discursive practices that policies are initiated, interpreted, translated, and enacted. The volume demonstrates how Non-Affirmative Theory (NAT) of education applies to understanding and dealing with the pedagogical dimensions of the multi-level and multi-actor phenomena of HE leadership in a coherent manner. It allows one to explore how the pedagogical scope of action at each level of leadership is framed or staged by the other levels as well as how actors at different levels utilise their scope. The book starts out by exploring the pedagogical aspects of HE leadership as a multi-level and multi-actor phenomenon at a theoretical level. It continues to discuss nation-state HE in a global perspective and HE leadership in an organisational perspective. Next, the book looks at departmental leadership management and development. Parallel with this, the volume critically explores the non-affirmative position itself by a contrasting dialogue with other theoretical approaches.

Understanding Inequality in China

Xiaogang Wu, Jia Miao, 2024-11-11. This edited volume provides an overview of inequality and stratification in contemporary China. A rare and timely resource, it presents key research on the topic published in Chinese Sociological Review from 2011 to 2023 using one or multiple waves of Chinese General Social Survey (CGSS) data reflecting the advancement of the field over the past decade. The CGSS, launched in 2003 and modelled after the US General Social Survey, is an annual or biennial cross-sectional survey of a nationally representative sample of the population from all provinces except for Tibet. Certain waves of CGSS data, e.g. 2003 and 2008, contain detailed retrospective information about education and job history which can be analysed to address various issues related to educational stratification and career mobility in both the pre-reform and reform eras. At the junction of the 20th anniversary of the CGSS 2003-2023, this volume draws on CGSS data to uncover dynamic and evolving inequality in China by examining topics such as education stratification, income inequality, career and intergenerational mobility, and how they are shaped by the socialist post-socialist institutional structure such as the household registration (hukou) system, the work unit (danwei) system. This collection significantly advances the understanding of Chinese social stratification, extending far beyond scholars' initial interests in the social consequences of the market transition. This volume invites social scientists to think more deeply about how politics and economics interplay with other social and demographic trends in shaping the pattern of inequality and provides a rich source and foundation for understanding inequality dynamics in contemporary China.

How does the Council of Europe put into practice its commitment to the promotion of a culture of democracy through education Over the past decade or so our societies have been facing increasing difficulties in reconciling acceptance of diversity and social inclusion with the need for community The search for simple solutions to complex problems the fact that fake news and alternative facts are no longer seen as nonsensical expressions our responses to migration and the refugee crisis and the growth of populism in many parts of Europe present challenges to our societies and not least to education Authors from Europe North America and South Africa outline how higher education could respond to these challenges The first section makes a strong case for the continuing importance of higher education and research to modern society The second focuses on higher education institutions and the need for inclusive and diverse campuses The third section considers opportunities to improve the inclusion of refugees and immigrants in higher education Whereas the focus in Europe is mostly on refugees in the United States it is largely on immigrants further accentuated by the debate on the Dreamers

Performance Funding for Higher Education Kevin J. Dougherty,Sosanya Jones,Hana Lahr,Rebecca S. Natow,Lara Pheatt,Vikash Reddy,2016-10-04 A rigorous analysis of the impact and implications of performance funding for higher education Seeking greater accountability in higher education many states have adopted performance funding tying state financial support of colleges and universities directly to institutional performance based on specific outcomes such as student retention progression and graduation Now in place in over thirty states performance funding for higher education has been endorsed by the US Department of Education and major funders like the Gates and Lumina foundations Focusing on three states that are regarded as leaders in the movement Indiana Ohio and Tennessee Performance Funding for Higher Education presents the findings of a three year research study on its implementation and impacts Written by leading authorities and drawing on extensive interviews with government officials and college and university staff members this book describes the policy instruments states use to implement performance funding explores the organizational processes colleges rely on to determine how to respond to performance funding analyzes the influence of performance funding on institutional policies and programs reviews the impacts of performance funding on student outcomes examines the obstacles institutions encounter in responding to performance funding demands investigates the unintended impacts of performance funding The authors conclude that while performance funding clearly grabs the attention of colleges and leads them to change their policies and practices it also encounters major obstacles and has unintended impacts Colleges subject to performance funding are hindered in posting good results by inappropriate performance measures insufficient organizational infrastructure and the commitment to enroll many students who are poorly prepared or not interested in degrees These obstacles help explain why multivariate statistical studies have failed to date to find a significant impact of performance funding on student outcomes and why colleges are tempted to resort to weakening academic quality and restricting the admission of less prepared and less advantaged students in order to improve their apparent performance These findings have wide ranging implications for policy and research Ultimately the authors recommend that states create new ways of helping colleges with many at risk students define performance indicators and measures better tailored to institutional missions and improve the capacity of colleges to engage in organizational learning
