Unisa Brochure For 2015:

Architecture, State Modernism and Cultural Nationalism in the Apartheid Capital Hilton Judin, 2021-04-08 This book is the first comprehensive investigation of the architecture of the apartheid state in the period of rapid economic growth and political repression from 1957 to 1966 when buildings took on an ideological role that was never remote from the increasingly dominant administrative legislative and policing mechanisms of the regime It considers how this process reflected the usurpation of a regional modernism and looks to contribute to wider discourses on international postwar modernism in architecture Buildings in Pretoria that came to embody ambitions of the apartheid state for industrialisation and progress serve as case studies These were widely acclaimed projects that embodied for apartheid officials the pursuit of modernisation but carried latent apprehensions of Afrikaners about their growing economic prospects and cultural estrangement in Africa It is a less known and marginal story due to the dearth of material and documents buried in archives and untranslated documents Many of the documents drawings and photographs in the book are unpublished and include classified material and photographs from the National Nuclear Research Centre negatives of 1960s from Pretoria News and documents and pamphlets from Afrikaner Broederbond archives State architecture became the most iconic public manifestation of an evolving expression of white cultural identity as a new generation of architects in Pretoria took up the challenge of finding form to their prospects and beliefs It was an opportunistic faith in Afrikaners who urgently needed to entrench their vulnerable and contested position on the African continent The shift from provincial town to apartheid capital was swift and relentless Little was left to stand in the way of the ambitions and aim of the state as people were uprooted and forcibly relocated structures torn down and block upon block of administration towers and slabs erected across Pretoria This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of architectural history as well as those with an interest in postcolonial studies political science and social anthropology Teacher Education in Diverse Settings Larry Prochner, Ailie Cleghorn, Anna Kirova, Christine Massing, 2016-09-27 Teacher Education in Diverse Settings presents a study of initial educator preparation in three social contexts a training program for immigrant child care educators in Canada a pre and lower primary specialization in a teacher education program in Namibia and a partnership between the Misak indigenous communities in Colombia and the University of Cauca to deliver courses for educators within their communities In each setting the book explores the relationships between indigenous ways of thinking and western discourse in reference to the preparation of educators whether they be teachers community leaders or newly arrived immigrants in Canada In each case the authors focus is on the tensions between the local understandings and global ideas and the creation of space for diverse but intersecting worldviews The book's goal is to investigate ways that teacher educators parents and communities can better prepare children for the realities of schooling while preserving the integrity of local norms and values through educator preparation programs Cross-Disciplinary Approaches to Action Research and Action Learning Mapotse, Tome
