

Evolution and Classification

UNIT BUNDLE

Such a fascinating process!

evidence for EVOLUTION

Evolution is the change in the heritable characteristics of a population over time

Evolution is a key to understanding the history of life on Earth

HOMOLOGOUS STRUCTURES

Different species may share physical features because they share a common ancestor. We call these features 'homologous structures'. An example of this is the forelimb of the vertebrate. The pattern of bones is very similar across.

Evolution by natural selection

THE FOSSIL RECORD

What are fossils & how do we date them? Fossils are the preserved remains or traces of dead organisms. They are usually found in rocks but sometimes they are found in permafrost or preserved in amber. We call all of the fossils found the 'fossil record'. It is important to know the age of each fossil so we can work out how species changed over time. Scientists can date fossils using the 'layer' of rock they are found in. The oldest rocks are always found in the deepest layers - this is known as the law of superposition. They can also directly date fossils using radioactive decay of certain elements such as carbon.

How does the fossil record provide evidence of evolution?

Fossils show a sequence of evolution through the gradual change of structure over time. Fossils can show the transition from one species to another.

Developing a Christian Apologetics Educational Program Douglas E. Potter, 2010-02-18 Many are expressing concern about the future of Christian youth today What can we do to help ensure they will keep their evangelical faith once they graduate from high school Can Christian apologetics provide an educational solution Developing A Christian Apologetics Educational Program explores issues certain to be encountered by secondary school educators who want to teach apologetics as a distinct subject of study either as a part of a Christian institutional or home school curriculum This book helps the apologist and educator blend their skills to soundly integrate the two subjects A solution is sought by providing a background and rationale for implementing an age level appropriate apologetics course at this critical level of Christian education This book is designed as a text to supplement those used in Christian education or applied apologetics courses each chapter successively builds upon the other to help develop an educational philosophy that supports the inclusion of apologetics in the curriculum A model is explained and materials are given to support the development of a curriculum in Christian Apologetics Education at the secondary level Practical ideas are explored and a sample unit of instruction is supplied to help the educator develop an evangelical approach to education that is in the classical apologetic tradition
