Human Factors in Transportation Giuseppe Di Bucchianico, Andrea Vallicelli, Neville A. Stanton, Steven J.

Landry, 2016-09-19 More and more the most traditional and typical applied ergonomics issues of the activities related to sea shipping vehicle driving and flying are required to deal with some emerging topics related to the growing automatism and manning reduction the ICT's advances and pervasiveness and the new demographic and social phenomena such as aging or multiculturalism With contributions from expert researchers professionals and doctoral students from a wide number of countries such as Australia Austria Canada Italy Germany the Netherlands Norway Sweden UK and USA this multi contributed book will explore traditional and emerging topics of Human Factors centered around the maritime road rail and aviation transportation domains Trends and Challenges in Maritime Energy Management Aykut I. Ölçer, Momoko

Kitada, Dimitrios Dalaklis, Fabio Ballini, 2018-05-03 This book provides an overview of contemporary trends and challenges in maritime energy management MEM Coordinated action is necessary to achieve a low carbon and energy efficient maritime future and MEM is the prevailing framework aimed at reducing greenhouse gas emissions resulting from maritime industry activities The book familiarizes readers with the status quo in the field and paves the way for finding solutions to perceived challenges The 34 contributions cover six important aspects regulatory framework energy efficient ship design energy efficient ship and port operation economic and social dimensions alternative fuels and wind assisted ship propulsion and marine renewable energy This pioneering work is intended for researchers and academics as well as practitioners and policymakers involved in this important field Advances in Human Aspects of Transportation: Part I Neville

Stanton, Giuseppe Di Bucchianico, Andrea Vallicelli, Steven Landry, 2021-07-19 Human Factors and Ergonomics have made a considerable contribution to the research design development operation and analysis of transportation systems which includes road and rail vehicles and their complementary infrastructure aviation and maritime transportation This book presents recent advances in the Human Factors aspects of Transportation These advances include accident analysis automation of vehicles comfort distraction of drivers understanding of distraction and how to avoid it environmental concerns in vehicle systems design intelligent transport systems methodological developments new systems and technology observational and case studies safety situation awareness skill development and training warnings and workload This book brings together the most recent human factors work in the transportation domain including empirical research human performance and other types of modeling analysis and development The issues facing engineers scientists and other practitioners of human factors in transportation research are becoming more challenging and more critical The common theme across these sections is that they deal with the intersection of the human and the system Moreover many of the chapter topics cross section boundaries for instance by focusing on function allocation in NextGen or on the safety benefits of a tower controller tool This is in keeping with the systemic nature of the problems facing human factors experts in rail and road aviation and maritime research it is becoming increasingly important to view problems not as isolated issues that can be extracted from the system environment but as embedded issues that can only be understood as a part of an overall system

Men, Masculinities and Disaster Elaine Enarson, Bob Pease, 2016-06-17 In the examination of gender as a driving force in disasters too little attention has been paid to how women's or men's disaster experiences relate to the wider context of gender inequality or how gender just practice can help prevent disasters or address climate change at a structural level With a foreword from Kenneth Hewitt an afterword from Raewyn Connell and contributions from renowned international experts this book helps address the gap It explores disasters in diverse environmental hazard political and cultural contexts through original research and theoretical reflection building on the underutilized orientation of critical men's studies This body of thought not previously applied in disaster contexts explores how men gain maintain and use power to assert control over women Contributing authors examine the gender terrain of disasters through men's eyes considering how diverse forms of masculinities shape men's efforts to respond to and recover from disasters and other climate challenges The book highlights both the high costs paid by many men in disasters and the consequences of dominant masculinity practices for women and marginalized men It concludes by examining how disaster risk can be reduced through men's diverse efforts to challenge hierarchies around gender sexuality disability age and culture

Kama Muta Alan Page Fiske, 2019-11-26 This book describes a ubiquitous and potent emotion that has only rarely and recently been studied in any systematic manner The words that come closest to denoting it in English are being moved or touched having a heart warming feeling nostalgic feeling patriotic or pride in family or team In religious contexts when the emotion is intense it may be labeled ecstasy mystical rapture burning in the bosom or being touched by the Spirit All of these are instances of what scientists now call kama muta Sanskrit moved by love Alan Page Fiske shows that what evokes this emotion is the sudden creation intensification renewal repair or recall of a communal sharing relationship when love ignites or people feel newly connected He explains the social psychological cultural and likely evolutionary processes involved and how they interlock Kama muta is described as it manifests in diverse settings at many points in history across scores of cultures in everyday experiences as well as the peak moments of life The chapters illuminate the occurrence of kama muta in a range of contexts including religion oratory literature sport social media and nature The book will be of interest to students and scholars from a number of disciplines who are interested in emotion or social relationships Supplementary notes can be found online at www.routledge.com/9780367220945
