The War Of The Lamb The Ethics Of Nonviolence And Peacemaking:

The War of the Lamb John Howard Yoder, 2009-12-01 John Howard Yoder was one of the major theologians of the late twentieth century. Before his death he planned the essays and structure of this book which he intended to be his last work. Now two leading interpreters of Yoder bring that work to fruition. The book is divided into three sections: pacifism, just war theory, and just peacemaking theory. The volume crystallizes Yoder's argument that his proposed ethics is not sectarian and a matter of withdrawal. He also clearly argues that Christian just war and Christian pacifist traditions are basically compatible and more specifically that the Christian just war tradition itself presumes against all violence. Pro Ecclesia Vol 19-N1

The Activist Impulse Jared S. Burkholder, David Cramer, 2012-04-04 Anabaptists have often felt suspicious of American evangelicalism, and in turn evangelicals have found various reasons to dismiss the Anabaptist witness. Yet at various points in the past as well as the present, evangelicals and Anabaptists have found ample reason for conversation and much to appreciate about each other. The Activist Impulse represents the first book-length examination of the complex relationship between evangelicalism and Anabaptism in the past thirty years. It brings established experts and new voices together in an effort to explore the historical and theological intersection of these two rich traditions. Each of the essays provides fresh insight on at least one characteristic that both evangelicals and Anabaptists share: an impulse to engage society through the pursuit of active Christian witness.

A Pilgrim People Gerald W. Schlabach, 2019-09-16 2020 Catholic Press Association honorable mention award for future church. Recent decades have seen a steady trend in Roman Catholic teaching toward a commitment to active nonviolence that could qualify the church as a peace church. As a moral theologian specializing in social ethics, Schlabach explores how this trend in Catholic social teaching will need to take shape if Catholics are to follow through. Globalization, he argues, is an invitation to recognize what was always supposed to be true in Catholic ecclesiology: Christ gives Christians an identity that crosses borders. To become a truly Catholic global peace church in which peacemaking is church wide and parish deep Catholics should recognize that they have always properly been a diaspora people with an identity that transcends tribe and nation state The Distinctive Identity of the Church Jeppe Bach Nikolajsen,2015-03-20

An increasing number of theologians believe that the Western world has moved from an era of Christendom to an era of post Christendom This book goes to the heart of the debate related to this shift asking How are we to understand the distinctive identity of the church with special reference to its role in a post Christendom society It then presents an analysis of the work of the English Reformed theologian Lesslie Newbigin and the American Mennonite theologian John Howard Yoder both of whom reflect on how we should understand this important question At the end of The Distinctive Identity of the Church the charge of sectarianism is discussed It is argued that a missionary God sends the church to the world and consequently this sending should fundamentally determine its existence in the world The book argues that the task that lies before the church in the Western world is not to bypass its distinctiveness with accusations of sectarianism but to recapitulate an understanding of its own distinctiveness that should be seen as a precondition for its engagement in society Such an ecclesiological position holds important potential for an understanding of the role of the church in pluralistic Western cultures Journal of the Society of Christian Ethics ,2009 Toward an Evangelical Public Policy Ronald J.
