Research in Technical Communication James Conklin,George F. Hayhoe,2010-10-27 Addressing the explosive growth in qualitative research in recent years this volume represents the first anthology to bring together a representative sample from this growing body of work and comments on the reasons for the extraordinary interest in qualitative research Contributors to the volume bring forward reports of significant structured qualitative research into various aspects of technical communication practice addressing the questions of what new insights researchers are generating about the working reality of today's technical communicators and how technical communicators are perceived and treated by managers and by colleagues from other disciplines. Including examples of qualitative methodologies including ethnography case study focus groups action research grounded theory and interview research used by technical communicators to strengthen their practice the result is a rich harmony of perspectives as diverse as the field of technical communication itself. This book will be of interest to students and academics seeking up to date information on current industry practices in technical communication as well as to practitioners in technical and professional communication. The book will also serve as a text in undergraduate seminars and courses at the master's level. Quill & Quire, 1998

Flash Web Design Hillman Curtis, 2001. Written from a personal creative professional perspective Hillman drills deep into nine high profile Flash projects that he's created. He explains why and how he designed the project as he did then he deconstructs and explains step by step the major aspects of that project's Flash component. All screenshots have been updated to show how each project is created using Flash 5. The chapter that drills deeply into ActionScript Chapter 8 MANIFESTIVAL deconstruction. Understanding Flash ActionScripting has been rewritten from the ground up to show how this is done in Flash 5's considerably changed ActionScripting environment. Fresh Styles for Web Designers Curt Cloninger, 2002. In a light and friendly voice the author introduces the reader to new ways of styling websites. With specific examples for each of ten categories he provides a wealth of techniques for the designer who wishes to apply these approaches in their own work. The styles are broken down into ten categories which are Gothic Organic School Wireframe Icon School Lo-fi Grunge School Paper Bag School Mondrian Poster School Pixelated Punk Rock School 1950's Hello Kitty School HTMinimaLism School DraftingTable Instruction Manual School Super Tiny SimCity School. Further explorations in the book help designers determine which style choices would be most appropriate when changing the look of their own sites.
