Unit Issues In Archaeology Measuring Time Space And Material:

Unit Issues in Archaeology Ann Felice Ramenofsky, Anastasia Steffen, 1998 This volume emphasizes one aspect of scientific method units of measure and their construction as applied to archaeology Attributes artifact classes locational designations temporal periods sampling universes culture stages and geographic regions are all examples of constructed units

Contradictions of Archaeological Theory Sandra Wallace, 2012-01-30 Is current archaeological theory stuck at an impasse Sandra Wallace argues that archaeological theory has become mired as a result of logical and ontological contradictions By showing that these contradictions are a result of common underlying philosophical assumptions and fallacies this book is able to show how a fresh approach to this discipline is necessary to resolve them even if this requires re-examining some of the tenants of orthodox archaeology This fresh approach is achieved by using Critical Realism as an under labourer to philosophically evaluate archaeological theory Starting by assessing the historical impact of philosophy on the discipline and then looking at the current relationship between archaeology and the ontology of the material this book facilitates the construction of discipline specific theory by archaeologists The result is an approach to archaeology that allows both students and practitioners to free themselves from endemic contradictions and re-discover their approach to archaeological theory

Unit Issues in Archaeology Ann Felice Ramenofsky, Anastasia Steffen, 1998 The relativity of measurement is one of the paradoxes of science Even as we seek evidence to explain the world around us the nature of that knowledge depends on our tools The apparent inconsistency between what we know and how and what we measure points to the importance of scientific method as a bridge between ideas and entities This volume emphasizes one aspect of scientific method units of measure and their construction as applied to archaeology Attributes artifact classes locational designations temporal periods sampling universes culture stages and geographic regions are all examples of constructed units Unit Issues in Archaeology discusses how units are defined described and evaluated within specified research contexts Topics include projectile points as chronological markers the Pecos classification obsidian and ceramic sourcing ceramic typology the Folsom problem and landscape scale units Throughout the volume emphasis is placed on the relationship between research goal and measurement Because research drives the selection and construction of units units are not treated as unvarying sets of absolutes

Evolutionary and Interpretive Archaeologies Ethan Cochrane, Andrew Gardner, 2016-09-16 This collection of original articles compares various key archaeological topics agency violence social groups diffusion from evolutionary and interpretive perspectives These two strands represent the major current theoretical poles in the discipline By comparing and contrasting the insights they provide into major archaeological themes this volume demonstrates the importance of theoretical frameworks in archaeological interpretations Chapter authors discuss relevant Darwinian or interpretive theory with short archaeological and anthropological case studies to illustrate the substantive conclusions produced The book will advance debate and contribute to a better understanding of the goals and research strategies that comprise these distinct research traditions The Impact of the Roman Empire on Landscapes ,2021-11-15 This volume presents the results of the fourteenth workshop of the international network Impact of Empire It focuses on the ways in which Rome's dominance influenced changed and created landscapes and examines in which ways Roman landscapes were narrated and semantically represented To assess the impact of Rome on landscapes some of the twenty contributions in this volume analyse functions and implications of newly created infrastructure Others focus on the consequences of colonisation processes settlement structures regional divisions and legal qualifications of land Lastly some contributions consider written and pictorial representations and their effects In doing so the volume offers new insights into the notion of Roman landscapes and examines their significance for the functioning of the Roman empire Culture History and Convergent Evolution Huw S. Groucutt,2020-07-23 This volume brings together diverse contributions from leading archaeologists and paleoanthropologists covering various spatial and temporal periods to distinguish convergent evolution from cultural transmission in order to see if we can discover ancient human populations With a focus on lithic technology the book analyzes ancient materials and cultures to systematically explore the theoretical and physical aspects of culture convergence and populations in human evolution and prehistory The book will be of interest to academics students and researchers in archaeology paleoanthropology genetics and paleontology The book begins by addressing early prehistory discussing the convergent evolution of behaviors and the diverse ecological conditions driving the success of different evolutionary paths Chapters discuss these topics and technology in the context of the Lower Paleolithic Earlier Stone age and Middle Paleolithic Middle Stone Age The book then moves towards a focus on the prehistory of our species over the last 40 000 years Topics covered include the human evolutionary and dispersal consequences of the Middle Upper Paleolithic Transition in Western Eurasia Readers will also learn about the cultural convergences and divergences that occurred during the Terminal Pleistocene and Holocene such as the budding of human societies in the Americas The book concludes by integrating these various perspectives and theories and explores different methods of analysis to link technological developments and cultural convergence The Exploitation of Raw Materials in Prehistory Xavier Terradas Batlle,Telmo Pereira,2017-11-06 This collection presents state of the art approaches to the use of inorganic raw materials in the period known as prehistory It focuses on stone tools adornments colorants and pottery from Europe America and Africa The chapters intimately merge archaeology anthropology geology geography physics and chemistry to reconstruct past human behaviour economy technology ecology cognition territory and social complexity The book represents a framework of raw material investigation for those working in science regardless of the time period region of the world or materials they are studying Companion to Social Archaeology Lynn Meskell,Robert W. Preucel,2008-04-15 The Companion to Social Archaeology is the first scholarly work to explore the encounter of social theory and archaeology over the past two decades Grouped into four sections Knowledges Identities Places and Politics each of which is prefaced with a review essay that contextualizes the history and developments in social archaeology and related fields Draws together newer trends that are challenging established ways of understanding the past Includes contributions by leading scholars who instigated major theoretical trends

International Handbook of Historical Archaeology Teresita Majewski, David Gaimster, 2009-06-07 In studying the past archaeologists have focused on the material remains of our ancestors Prehistorians generally have only artifacts to study and rely on the diverse material record for their understanding of past societies and their behavior Those involved in studying historically documented cultures not only have extensive material remains but also contemporary texts images and a range of investigative technologies to enable them to build a broader and more reflexive picture of how past societies communities and individuals operated and behaved Increasingly historical archaeology refers not to a particular period place or a method but rather an approach that interrogates the tensions between artifacts and texts irrespective of context In short historical archaeology provides direct evidence for how humans have shaped the world we live in today Historical archaeology is a branch of global archaeology that has grown in the last 40 years from its North American base into an increasingly global community of archaeologists each studying their area of the world in a historical context Where historical archaeology started as part of the study of the post Columbian societies of the United States and Canada it has now expanded to interface with the post medieval archaeologies of Europe and the diverse post imperial experiences of Africa Latin America and Australasia The 36 essays in the International Handbook of Historical Archaeology have been specially commissioned from the leading researchers in their fields creating a wide ranging digest of the increasingly global field of historical archaeology The volume is divided into two sections the first reviewing the key themes issues and approaches of historical archaeology today and the second containing a series of case studies charting the development and current state of historical archaeological practice around the world This key reference work captures the energy and diversity of this global discipline today

Jebel Bishri in Focus Sanna Aro-Valjus, Markus Törmä, 2011 This book presents the work of the Finnish project SYGIS on Jebel Bishri a mountainous region in Central Syria The main focus of this archaeological project was to unambiguously locate discovered sites on the Earth's surface in order to provide a starting point for the recording and creation of data to help with the cultural heritage management of Syria as well as to help prevent looting and to aid in the preservation of cultural remains in this vulnerable area The sites encountered during this project covered a time span of nearly 0.5 million years and in a series of chronological chapters the development of human cultures in the Jebel Bishri region over the course of time is explored The interaction of people between different environmental zones and the cultural longue durée emerge as themes of particular importance

Prehistoric Households Along the Chuska Slope: Report. Part 2 Patricia A. Ruppé, 2000

New Perspectives on Formative Mesoamerican Cultures Terry G. Powis, 2005 These seventeen perspectives on Mesoamerican cultures were originally presented at a symposium at the 66th annual meeting of the Society for American Archaeology held in New Orleans in 2001

Kelly,2001 This study examines prehistoric use of the Stillwater Marsh in the Carson Desert of western Nevada and the adjacent Stillwater Mountains based on an archaeological survey undertaken in 1980 and 1981 and excavations conducted in 1987 Library Journal ,1997

Shifting Sands Richard K. Talbot,Lane D. Richens,2009 Anthropology and Archaeology Hidden beneath the beautiful shifting dunes within the Sand Hollow Basin of southwestern Utah are thousands of campsites dating from the Early Archaic period into Historic times The sites attest to life in a marginal environment where small groups of people moved outward from the nearby Virgin River into the surrounding landscape seasonally exploiting a surprisingly rich variety of plants and animals This report summarizes archaeological geomorphological botanical and climatological studies that have expanded our understanding of Native American land use and subsistence in this hot desert environment Donald H.
