Eurasia 2.0 Mark Bassin, Mikhail Suslov, 2016-03-17

This book discusses the return of geopolitical ideas and doctrines to the post Soviet space with special focus on the new phenomenon of digital geopolitics which is an overarching term for different political practices including dissemination of geopolitical ideas online using the internet by political figures and diplomats for legitimation and outreach activity and viral spread of geopolitical memes Different chapters explore the new possibilities and threats associated with this digitalization of geopolitical knowledge and practice Our authors consider new spatial sensibilities and new identities of global as well as local Selves the emergence of which is facilitated by the internet They explore recent reconfigurations of the traditional imperial conundrum of center versus periphery Developing Manuel Castells argument that social activism in the digital era is organized around cultural values the essays discuss new geopolitical ideologies which aim to reinforce Russia's spiritual sovereignty as a unique civilization while at the same time seeking to rebrand Russia as a greater soft power by utilizing the Russian speaking diaspora or employing traditionalist rhetoric Great Power imagery enemy making and visual mappings of Russia's future territorial expansion are traditional means for the manipulation of imperial pleasures and geopolitical fears In the age of new media however this is being done with greater subtlety by mobilizing the grassroots contracting private information channels and de politicizing geopolitics Given the political events of recent years it is logical that the Ukrainian crisis should provide the thematic backdrop for most of the authors

Transforming Urban Transport Diane E. Davis, Alan A. Altshuler, 2019 Transforming Urban Transport brings into focus the origins and implementation pathways of significant urban transport innovations that have recently been adopted in major democratically governed world cities that are seeking to advance sustainability aims It documents how proponents of new transportation initiatives confronted a range of administrative environmental fiscal and political obstacles by using a range of leadership skills technical resources and negotiation capacities to move a good idea from the drawing board to implementation The book's eight case studies focus on cities of great interest across the globe Los Angeles Mexico City New York Paris San Francisco Seoul Stockholm and Vienna many of which are known for significant mayor leadership and efforts to rescale power from the nation to the city The cases highlight innovations likely to be of interest to transport policy makers from all corners such as strengthening public transportation services vehicle and traffic management measures repurposing roads and other urban spaces away from their initial function as vehicle travel corridors and turning sidewalks and city streets into more pedestrian friendly places for walking cycling and leisure Aside from their transformative impacts in transportation terms many of the policy innovations examined here have altered planning institutions public private sector relations civil society commitments and governance mandates in the course of implementation In bringing these cases to the fore Transforming Urban Transport advances understanding of the conditions under which policy interventions can expand institutional capacities and governance mandates particularly linked to urban sustainability As such it is an essential contribution to larger debates about what it takes to make cities more environmentally sustainable and the types of strategies and tactics that best advance progress on these fronts in both the short and the long term

Creating and Promoting Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries Donna L. Gilton, 2016-06-21 Creating and Promoting Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries Tools and Tips For Practitioners is the sequel to Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries Principles Programs and People On the one hand Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries focuses on the information needs and the developmental and psychological characteristics of diverse library users of all ages It endorses the use of ILI to promote lifelong learning in public libraries both by borrowing techniques from academic and school libraries and by building on existing public library traditions of programming and outreach This book also compares lifelong learning in public libraries to informal and nonformal education in museums community organizations and agencies places of worship and other organizations In addition Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries describes basic steps that librarians can execute in order to get started On the other hand Creating and Promoting Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries focuses much more on how public librarians can specifically plan and implement their instruction with chapters on planning for instruction using teaching methodologies teaching with and about technology and bringing ILI together with more traditional public library services programming and activities such as reference and Readers Advisory services bibliotherapy and cultural and literacy programming Changes in ILI standards and comparisons of ILI with basic reading media digital and cultural literacies are also described Both books together should act as basic manuals for public librarians who promote lifelong learning Creating and Promoting Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries also have helpful teaching hints for all librarians and other professionals who teach in a variety of settings Doctoral Education in South Africa Nico Cloete, Johann Mouton, 2015-12-08

Worldwide in Africa and in South Africa the importance of the doctorate has increased disproportionately in relation to its share of the overall graduate output over the past decade This heightened attention has not only been concerned with the traditional role of the PhD namely the provision of future academics rather it has focused on the increasingly important role that higher education and particularly high level skills is perceived to play in national development and the knowledge economy This book is unique in the area of research into doctoral studies because it draws on a large number of studies conducted by the Centre of Higher Education Trust CHET and the Centre for Research on Evaluation Science and Technology CREST as well as on studies from the rest of Africa and the world In addition to the historical studies new quantitative and qualitative research was undertaken to produce the evidence base for the analyses presented in the book The findings presented in Doctoral Education in South Africa pose anew at least six tough policy questions that the country has struggled with since 1994 and continues to struggle with if it wishes to gear up the system to meet the target of 5 000 new doctorates a year by 2030 Discourses framed around the single imperatives of growth efficiency transformation or quality will not however generate the kind of policy discourses required to resolve these tough policy questions effectively What is needed is a change in approach that accommodates multiple imperatives and allows for these to be addressed simultaneously Russia-EU Relations and the Common Neighborhood Irina Busygina, 2017-07-20 Examining Russia EU relations in terms of the forms and types of power tools they use this book argues that the deteriorating relations between Russia and the EU lie in the deep differences in their preferences for the international status quo These different approaches combined with economic interdependence and geographic proximity means both parties experience significant difficulties in shaping strategy and formulating agendas with regards to each other The Russian leadership is well aware of the EU's authority orientation but fails to reliably predict foreign policy at the EU level whilst the EU realizes Russia's coercive orientation in general but cannot predict when and where coercive tools will be used next Russia is gradually realizing the importance of authority while the EU sees the necessity of coercion tools for coping with certain challenges The learning process is ongoing but the basic distinction remains unchanged and so their approaches cannot be reconciled as long as both actors exist in their current form Using a theoretical framework and case studies including Belarus Georgia and Ukraine Busygina examines the possibilities and constraints that arise when the power of authority and the power of coercion interact with each other and how this interaction affects third parties
