

Speaker Positioning

For a typical setup, use 5 speakers: 2 front speakers, center speaker, 2 rear speakers and subwoofer.

- Front Speakers
Test at the speakers at an equal distance from your listening position. For best hearing position, set up surround sound system at 90 degree.
- Center Speaker
It is ideal if the center speaker and front speakers are at the same height. But normally place the center speaker above or below the television or monitor.
- Rear Speakers
Place the rear surround speakers to the left and right behind the primary listening area. These speakers provide sound effects and atmospheric background music. Position the rear speakers for the best listening position. Position rear speakers at the same level as the front speakers. If it is more effective to place the rear speakers behind and on the opposite side of the sound, this surround system will be effective to hear the rear effect when the rear speakers are placed with other rear speakers at 90 to 180 degree about the speaker's rear.
- Subwoofer
This can be placed in any front position.
