Abstract

A paradox has been observed whereby web site usability is proven to be an essential element in a web site, yet at the same time there exist an abundance of web pages with poor usability. This discrepancy is the result of limitations that are currently preventing web developers in the commercial sector from producing usable web sites. In this paper we propose a framework whose objective is to alleviate this problem by automating certain aspects of the usability evaluation process. Mainstreaming comes as a result of automation, therefore enabling a non-expert in the field of usability to conduct the evaluation. This results in reducing the costs associated with such evaluation. Additionally, the framework allows the flexibility of adding, modifying or deleting guidelines without altering the code that references them since the guidelines and the code are two separate components. A comparison of the evaluation results carried out using the framework against published evaluations of web sites carried out by web site usability professionals reveals that the framework is able to automatically identify the majority of usability violations. Due to the consistency with which it evaluates, it identified additional guideline-related violations that were not identified by the human evaluators.

Keywords: Usability, Automated Usability Evaluation, Usability Guidelines, Usability Problems.

1. INTRODUCTION

The International Standards Organization's ISO9241 standard, defines usability as the "effectiveness, efficiency and satisfaction with which specified users achieve specified goals in particular environments" [1].

Whilst there exists a general agreement about the importance of web site usability, especially within the technical communication professional and the academic communities [2, 3, 4], it is given less priority in the commercial sector [3]. In fact, even in its early years, it was noted that on average, the web sites on the World Wide Web were of a poor quality [5, 6, 7, 8].

Problems related to poor usability and accessibility in software and web sites, also prompted some countries to also have their own guidelines and legislation for usability and accessibility of web sites [9, 10]. Additionally, there is less accord about what constitutes usability [2] particularly because some argue that usability is perceived in different ways by different users based on their characteristics such as age, gender, education level, technology skills and culture [11, 12].

Thus, it can be observed that a paradox exists whereby web site usability is proven to be an essential element in a web site, the absence of which confuses users and results in loss of revenue [13, 14] and at the same time it is not commonly applied with the commercial sector. The main question that this study aims to address is "How can web site usability be automated and as Usability Engineering Torben Wiedenhöfer, 2015-08-04 Torben Wiedenhofer erweitert neben den im Usability Engineering intensiv betrachteten und unterstützten Softwareentwicklungsphasen Analyse, Design und Implementierung diesen Diskurs durch die Adressierung der Nutzungsphase. Dies gelingt, indem er Nutzern eine gestaltungsaktivere Rolle zuschreibt und gleichzeitig Entwicklern ermöglicht, designbezogene Aufgaben in die Nutzungsphase zu übertragen. Diese Studie stellt entsprechende Werkzeuge und ein Vorgehensmodell vor, die empirisch begründet und in der Praxis evaluiert wurden.
