Race, Gender, and Comparative Black Modernism Jennifer M. Wilks, 2008-12 Race Gender and Comparative Black Modernism revives and critiques four African American and Francophone Caribbean women writers sometimes overlooked in discussions of early twentieth century literature Guadeloupean Suzanne Lacascade dates unknown African American Marita Bonner 1899 1971 Martinican Suzanne C saire 1913 1966 and African American Dorothy West 1907 1998 Reexamining their most significant work Jennifer M Wilks demonstrates how their writing challenges prevailing racial archetypes such as the New Negro and the Negritude hero of the period from the 1920s to the 1940s and explores how these writers tapped into modernist currents from expressionism to surrealism to produce progressive treatments of race gender and nation that differed from those of currently canonized black writers of the era the great majority of whom are men Wilks begins with Lacascade whom she deems best known for being unknown reading Lacascade's novel Claire Solange me africaine 1924 as a protofeminist proto Negritude articulation of Caribbean identity She then examines the fissures left unexplored in New Negro visions of African American community by showing the ways in which Bonner's essays plays and short stories highlight issues of economic class C saire applied the ideas and techniques of surrealism to the French language and Wilks reveals how her writings in the journal Tropiques 1941 45 directly and insightfully engage the intellectual influences that informed the work of canonical Negritude Wilks close reading of West's

The Living Is Easy 1948 provides a retrospective critique of the forces that continued to circumscribe women's lives in the midst of the social and cultural awakening presumably embodied in the New Negro. To show how the black literary tradition has continued to confront the conflation of gender roles with social and literary conventions Wilks examines these writers alongside the late twentieth century writings of Maryse Condé and Toni Morrison. Unlike many literary analysts Wilks does not bring together the four writers based on geography. Lacascade and Césaire came from different Caribbean islands and though Bonner and West were from the United States they never crossed paths. In considering this eclectic group of women writers together Wilks reveals the analytical possibilities opened up by comparing works influenced by multiple intellectual traditions.

Letters addressed to Mrs. Pascoe, of St. Hilary vicarage, Cornwall: and on her death in the spring of 1874, returned to the writer, A.M.W. Anna Maria Wood, 1875 A Beckett Canon Ruby Cohn, 2010-05-25 Samuel Beckett is unique in literature. Born and educated in Ireland he lived most of his life in Paris. His literary output was rendered in either English or French and he often translated one to the other but there is disagreement about the contents of his bilingual corpus. A Beckett Canon by renowned theater scholar Ruby Cohn offers an invaluable guide to the entire corpus, commenting on Beckett's work in its original language. Beginning in 1929 with Beckett's earliest work, the book examines the variety of genres in which he worked: poems, short stories, novels, plays, radio pieces, teleplays, reviews, and criticism. Cohn grapples with the difficulties in Beckett's work, including the opaque erudition of the early English verse and fiction and the searching depths and syntactical ellipsis of the late works. Specialist and nonspecialist readers will find A Beckett Canon valuable for its remarkable inclusiveness. Cohn has examined the holdings of all of the major Beckett depositories and is thus able to highlight neglected manuscripts and correct occasional errors in their listings. Intended as a resource to accompany the reading of Beckett's writing in English or French, published or unpublished in part or as a whole, the book offers context, information, and interpretation of the work of one of the last century's most important writers. Ruby Cohn is Professor Emerita of Comparative Drama, University of California, Davis. She is author or editor of many books, including Anglo-American Interplay in Recent Drama, Retreats from Realism in Recent English Drama, From Desire to Godot, and Just Play: Beckett's Theater. Love in the Theatre of Marivaux Valentini Papadopoulou Brady, 1970 Fibromyalgie des solutions existent ! Mona Müsse, 2023-12-28 De plus en plus de femmes et d'hommes souffrent de cette maladie encore moins connue de nos jours. LA FIBROMYALGIE. Elle est en constante augmentation dans les pays industrialisés et pour le moment les traitements médicaux ne sont pas à la hauteur des espérances. Les personnes subissent alors une errance médicale pénible et un manque d'écoute. Souvent elles se sentent seules et incomprises voire rejetées. Et pourtant des solutions existent. Dans cet ouvrage je souhaite mettre un peu de lumière sur cette maladie, travers mes prismes de thérapeute mais aussi et surtout grâce aux informations et témoignages recueillis pour mettre l'honneur à ceux qui en parlent le mieux, les fibros eux-mêmes. PROPOS DE L'AUTRICE Mona Müsse. Né le 16 novembre 1973. Thérapeute PNL, sophrologue depuis 2009. Travaille en consultations.
