(Not) In the Game Regina Seiwald, Edwin Vollans, 2023-08-21 How do games represent history and how do we make sense of the history of games The industry regularly uses history to sell products while processes of creation and of promotion leave behind markers of a game's history The access to this history is often granted by so called paratexts which are accompanying elements orbiting texts

Exploring this fully case studies in this work move the focus of debate from the games themselves to wider ancillary materials and ask how history is used in and how we can use history to study games Playing Dystopia Gerald Farca, 2018-11-05 Video games permeate our everyday existence They immerse players in fascinating gameworlds and exciting experiences often inviting them in various ways to reflect on the enacted events Gerald Farca explores the genre of dystopian video games and the player's aesthetic response to their nightmarish gameworlds Players he argues will gradually come to see similarities between the virtual dystopia and their own offline environment thus learning to stay wary of social and political developments In his analysis Farca draws from a variety of research fields such as literary theory and game studies combining them into a coherent theory of aesthetic response to dystopian games
