accomplishments of the 20th century Ensuring their fulfillment has become a challenge for these governments and an issue for human rights defenders seeking to find ways to resist anti democratic actions This book seeks to expose the crisis of human rights at the hands of people who despite rising to power through democratic means now see democracy as a limiting institution that must be dismantled urgently Restrictions on civil society and arbitrary detentions are some of the reasons why this populist and authoritarian vision is incompatible with human rights which are guaranteed to some and denied to others Through various narratives the authors seek to recognize new spaces for struggle such as political activism to develop action research tools in a context of crisis

A Rhetoric of Meanings Gergana Apostolova,2015-09-04 This book presents an in depth analysis of language s role as the tool and environment for human survival on Earth examining its ability to provide an unlimited space for telling individual stories that bear the knowledge of mankind's self significance. The book is the result of a 20 year long composite study of language phenomenology grounded in the interactions of Bulgarian and English approached in a game like fashion where the play with language units transcends levels of meanings based on significances and explored through the four basic avatars of activated language: the learner, the teacher, the translator and the creator of texts. The book is divided into three sections: the first details the motivation for this study and the design of the method of exploration. This is followed by an application of this method to the talkative web in order to find ways of meeting the enormous demand for human content. The final section brings together the colourful practices of activated language movement. This book is not about the philosophy of language per se. It is concerned with the practical field beyond the philosophy of language where the self identification of the Subject is brought to a higher stage of communicative creativity. The rhetoric theory of argumentation is argued throughout the book to be the relevant ground for building a holistic tool of language learning where language acquisition is seen as the capability of the subject to construct worlds in a universe whose leading structure involves the rhetoric criteria of ethos, pathos and logos on the one hand and the self identifying choice of meanings to situations of complex nature on the other. As such, the book is primarily concerned with linguistics, rhetoric, semiotics of culture, ethics and language learning viewed through a philosophical preoccupation with humanity. Princeton Alumni Weekly, 1985 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, 1972-09. The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security. Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists, the Bulletin's iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world. Chambers 21st Century Dictionary Allied, Chamber Concise Dictionary, 2004.
