Generating Trading Agent Strategies Daniel M. Reeves, 2005 Game Theory for Data Science Boi Faltings, Goran Radanovic, 2022-05-31 Intelligent systems often depend on data provided by information agents for example sensor data or crowdsourced human computation Providing accurate and relevant data requires costly effort that agents may not always be willing to provide Thus it becomes important not only to verify the correctness of data but also to provide incentives so that agents that provide high quality data are rewarded while those that do not are discouraged by low rewards We cover different settings and the assumptions they admit including sensing human computation peer grading reviews and predictions We survey different incentive mechanisms including proper scoring rules prediction markets and peer prediction Bayesian Truth Serum Peer Truth Serum Correlated Agreement and the settings where each of them would be suitable As an alternative we also consider reputation mechanisms We complement the game theoretic analysis with practical examples of applications in prediction platforms community sensing and peer grading Introduction to Intelligent Systems in Traffic and Transportation Ana L.C. Bazzan, Franziska Klügl, 2022-05-31 Urban mobility is not only one of the pillars of modern economic systems but also a key issue in the quest for equality of opportunity once it can improve access to other services Currently however there are a number of negative issues related to traffic especially in mega cities such as economical issues cost of opportunity caused by delays environmental externalities related to emissions of pollutants and social traffic accidents Solutions to these issues are more and more closely tied to information and communication technology Indeed a search in the technical literature using the keyword urban traffic to filter out articles on data network traffic retrieved the following number of articles as of December 3 2013 9 443 ACM Digital Library 26 054 Scopus and 1 730 000 Google Scholar Moreover articles listed in the ACM query relate to conferences as diverse as MobiCom CHI PADS and AAMAS This means that there is a big and diverse community of computer scientists and computer engineers who tackle research that is connected to the development of intelligent traffic and transportation systems It is also possible to see that this community is growing and that research projects are getting more and more interdisciplinary To foster the cooperation among the involved communities this book aims at giving a broad introduction into the basic but relevant concepts related to transportation systems targeting researchers and practitioners from computer science and information technology In addition the second part of the book gives a panorama of some of the most exciting and newest technologies originating in computer science and computer engineering that are now being employed in projects related to car to car communication interconnected vehicles car navigation platooning crowd sensing and sensor networks among others This material will also be of interest to engineers and researchers from the traffic and transportation community Adaptive Agents, Intelligence, and Emergent Human Organization National Academies of Sciences and Engineering, 2002-01-01 Robot Learning from Human Teachers Sonia Chernova, Andrea L. Thomaz, 2022-06-01 Learning from Demonstration LfD explores techniques for learning a task policy from examples provided by a human teacher The field of LfD has grown into an extensive body of literature over the past 30 years with a wide variety of approaches for encoding human demonstrations and modeling skills and tasks Additionally we have recently seen a focus on gathering data from non expert human teachers i e domain experts but not robotics experts In this book we provide an introduction to the field with a focus on the unique technical challenges associated with designing robots that learn from naive human teachers We begin in the introduction with a unification of the various terminology seen in the literature as well as an outline of the design choices one has in designing an LfD system Chapter 2 gives a brief survey of the psychology literature that provides insights from human social learning that are relevant to designing robotic social learners Chapter 3 walks through an LfD interaction surveying the design choices one makes and state of the art approaches in prior work First is the choice of input how the human teacher interacts with the robot to provide demonstrations Next is the choice of modeling technique Currently there is a dichotomy in the field between approaches that model low level motor skills and those that model high level tasks composed of primitive actions We devote a chapter to each of these Chapter 7 is devoted to interactive and active learning approaches that allow the robot to refine an existing task model And finally Chapter 8 provides best practices for evaluation of LfD systems with a focus on how to approach experiments with human subjects in this domain
