Hey Rub-A-Dub-Dub (1920) by Theodore Dreiser, 2016-03-15 Excerpt from Hey Rub a Dub Dub A Book of the Mystery and Wonder and Terror of Life I Have lived now to my fortieth year and have seen a good deal of life Just now because of a stretch of poverty I am living across the river from New York in New Jersey in sight of a splendid tower the Woolworth Building on the lower end of Manhattan which lifts its defiant spear of clay into the very maw of heaven And although I am by no means as far from it as is Fifth Avenue still I am a dweller in one of the shabbiest most forlorn neighborhoods which the great metropolis affords About me dwell principally Poles and Hungarians who palaver in a lingo of which I know nothing and who live as I would despise to live poor as I am For after all in my hall bedroom which commands the river over the lumberyard there is some attempt at intellectual adornment whereas outside and around me there is little more than dull and to a certain extent aggrieved drudgery Not so very far from me is a church a great yellow structure which lifts its walls out of a ruck of cheap frame houses and those muddy unpaved streets which are the pride of Jersey City and Hoboken Here if I will I can hear splendid masses intoned see bright altars and stained glass windows and people going to confession and burning votive candles before images
