The United Nations in The Era of Globalization Mazid Reza Momeni, 2021-08-03 The United Nations as a world organization has gone through different epochs of time facing various challenges and changes since its inception While it has done a lot in saving humankind in its diverse fields of activities yet it has failed to function legitimately and effectively according to the principles of its Charter which have brought its existence and relevance under criticism and questioning The UN after the end of the Cold War for a short period of time gave a new hope to the world that it would now work genuinely according to its member states will in an environment of cooperation and understanding between its member states for common goals However right after the collapse of the communist bloc and the end of capitalist communist antagonism the process of globalization already in force gained momentum which brought about a new era in the UN's life affecting international relations and the world politics too The emergence of globalization has created many new challenges not only to the individuals and countries but also to the international institutions and global organizations This study is an attempt to analyze the real purpose of the emergence of globalization as a policy and its effects on the UN in particular and the international political economic relations in a wider context

International Relations

Eric Shiraev, Vladislav M. Zubok, 2015-10-02 Using a guiding framework of Ideas Arguments and Contexts and Applications International Relations shows students how to think critically about issues in world politics Each chapter first describes key concepts and developments then presents the main theoretical and analytical approaches and finally applies those approaches within individual state and global contexts The authors provide extensive historical information throughout and each chapter closes with an extended case study The Uses of History that demonstrates how what we have learned from the past can influence our future actions

Global Energy Security and American Hegemony Doug Stokes, Sam Raphael, 2010-06-07 This analysis of the United States and energy security examines the close relationship between US military supremacy in oil rich regions and America's maintenance of global power Energy security generally evokes thoughts of American intervention in the Middle East to protect US interests in that region's oil rich fields Doug Stokes and Sam Raphael move beyond that framework to consider US actions in Latin America Central Asia and Africa Drawing on State and Defense Department records and other primary sources and previous scholarship they show how US foreign policy since World War II has sought to maintain a global energy security regime that supports the nation's allies while maintaining American hegemony Stokes and Raphael explain how US intervention in energy rich states insulates and stabilizes those nations transnationally oriented actors and political economies and why American oil diversification strategy strengthens the country's position against rivals in the global capitalist system They argue that counterinsurgency aid and other types of coercive US statecraft protect the recipient states from an array of potentially revolutionary armed and unarmed internal social forces thereby securing the energy supplies of nations deemed strategically important to the United States or its allies Clear and accessible this cutting edge contemporary policy analysis will engage scholars of US foreign policy and international relations as well as policymakers grappling with the importance of energy security in today's world
