Veil Veiling Representation And Contemporary Art:

Veil Institute of International Visual Arts, 2003 Veil New Art Gallery Walsall, Bluecoat Gallery, Open Eye Gallery, 2003
Published to coincide with an Institute of International Visual Arts exhibition a study of the historical cultural and artistic significance of the veil features commissioned essays and a range of excerpts from classical historical texts Postcolonial Representations of Women Rachel Bailey Jones, 2011-06-11 In this accessible combination of post colonial theory feminism and pedagogy the author advocates using subversive and contemporary artistic representations of women to remodel traditional stereotypes in education It is in this key sector that values and norms are molded and prejudice kept at bay yet the legacy of colonialism continues to pervade official education received in classrooms as well as unofficial education ingested via popular culture and the media The result is a variety of distorted images of women and gender in which women appear as two dimensional stereotypes The text analyzes both current and historical colonial representations of women in a pedagogical context In doing so it seeks to recast our conception of what difference is challenging historical patriarchal gender relations with their stereotypical representations that continue to marginalize minority populations in the first world and billions of women elsewhere These distorted images the book argues can be subverted using the semiology provided by postcolonialism and transnational feminism and the work of contemporary artists who rethink and recontextualize the visual codes of colonialism These resistive images created by women who challenge and subvert patriarchal modes of representation can be used to create educational environments that provide an alternative view of women of non western origin Commitment and Complicity in Cultural Theory and Practice B. Front Cover Iconography and Algerian Women's Writing Pamela A. Pears, 2015-10-29 The front covers of books written by Algerian women serve as the primary source of investigation in Front Cover Iconography and Algerian Women Writers These covers have implications that extend beyond selling the book What we see on one side of the page or in this case the cover recto controls what we read on the reverse in this case the text itself verso Using theories of the paratext including those of Gérard Genette and Jonathan Gray this book determines how four dominant iconographies used on the covers of Algerian women s writing Orientalist art the veil the desert and the author portrait work with and against the texts they represent These images have an impact on the initial reception of the book but beyond that book covers determine how both the informed and uninformed reader categorize and interpret francophone Algerian women s writing in France and beyond As the covers help to sell the works they also produce messages represented via their iconographies that embed themselves into the texts A sometimes explicit and at the very least implicit dialog between the visual paratextual representation and the written textual one is created a dialog that extends beyond the life of the physical book to a sort of canonical paradigm for reading these authors works Thus even if the cover image appears ephemeral it never truly disappears Its powerful control over critical reception and ultimately interpretation of francophone Algerian women s writing remains Feminist Practices Lori A. Brown, 2016-04-15 Women continue to be extremely under represented in the architectural profession Despite equal numbers of male and female students entering architectural studies there is at least 17 25% attrition of female students and not all remaining become practicing architects In both the academic and the professional fields of architecture positions of power and authority are almost entirely male and as such the profession is defined by a heterosexual Eurasian male perspective This book argues that it is vital for all architectural students and practitioners to be exposed to a diversity of contemporary architectural practices as this might provide a first step into broadening awareness and transforming architectural engagement It considers the relationships between feminist methodologies and the various approaches toward design and their impact upon our understanding and relationship to the built environment In doing so this collection challenges two conventional ideas firstly the definition of architecture and secondly what constitutes a feminist practice This collection of up and coming female architects and designers use a wide range of local and global examples of their work to question different aspects of these two conventional ideas While focusing on feminist perspectives the book offers insights into many different issues concerns and interpretations of architecture proposing through these types of engagement architecture can become more culturally politically and environmentally relevant This next generation of architects claim feminism as their own and through doing so help define what feminism means and how it is evolving in the 21st century Regarding Muslims Gabeba Baderoon, 2014-06-01 An analysis of the role of Muslims from South Africa s founding to the present and points to the resonance of these discussions beyond South Africa How do Muslims fit into South Africa s well known narrative of colonialism apartheid and post apartheid South Africa is infamous for apartheid but the country s foundation was laid by 176 years of slavery from 1658 to 1834 which formed a crucible of war genocide and systemic sexual violence that continues to haunt the country today Enslaved people from East Africa India and South East Asia many of whom were Muslim would eventually constitute the majority of the population of the Cape Colony the first of the colonial territories that would eventually form South Africa Drawing on an extensive popular and official archive Regarding Muslims analyses the role of Muslims from South Africa s founding moments to the contemporary period and points to the resonance of these discussions beyond South Africa It argues that the 350 year archive of images documenting the presence of Muslims in South Africa is central to understanding the formation of concepts of race sexuality and belonging In contrast to the themes of extremism and alienation that dominate Western portrayals of Muslims Regarding Muslims explores an extensive repertoire of picturesque Muslim figures in South African popular culture which oscillates with more disquieting images that occasionally burst into prominence during moments of crisis This pattern is illustrated through analyses of etymology popular culture visual art jokes bodily practices oral narratives and literature The book ends with the complex vision of Islam conveyed in the post apartheid period Stereotypes of Muslim Women in the United States Alexis Tan, Anastasia Vishnevskaya, 2022-06-21

This book brings into focus the perception of Muslim women in the United States often overlooked in research literature and common media narratives but at the same time facing increasing hate and aggression based on their religious and gendered identities Guided by data from three original experiments and theories of priming and media effects Alexis Tan and Anastasia Vishnevskaya discuss how stereotypes of Muslim women in the media influence public stereotypes and how public stereotypes direct aggressions towards them This book contributes to existing literature in the field by presenting evidence that both verbal and visual symbols in the media can activate implicit prejudices and that activation can be controlled by people who self identify as social liberals Ultimately Tan and Vishnevskaya suggest both media and intrapersonal interventions to mitigate harmful consequences of prejudice towards Muslim women in the United States Scholars of media studies communication religious studies gender studies and cultural studies will find this book particularly useful

Seeing Differently Amelia Jones, 2013-06-19 Seeing Differently offers a history and theory of ideas about identity in relation to visual arts discourses and practices in Euro American culture from early modern beliefs that art is an expression of an individual the painted image a world picture expressing a comprehensive and coherent point of view to the rise of identity politics after WWII in the art world and beyond The book is both a history of these ideas for example tracing the dominance of a binary model of self and other from Hegel through classic 1970s identity politics and a political response to the common claim in art and popular political discourse that we are beyond or post identity In challenging this latter claim Seeing Differently critically examines how and why we identify works of art with an expressive subjectivity noting the impossibility of claiming we are post identity given the persistence of beliefs in art discourse and broader visual culture about who the subject is and offers a new theory of how to think this kind of identification in a more thoughtful and self reflexive way Ultimately Seeing Differently offers a mode of thinking identification as a queer feminist durational process that can never be fully resolved but must be accounted for in thinking about art and visual culture Queer feminist durationality is a mode of relational interpretation that affects both art and interpreter potentially making us more aware of how we evaluate and give value to art and other kinds of visual culture

Re-framing Representations of Women Susan Shifrin, 2017-07-05 Crossing disciplinary and chronological boundaries this volume integrates text and image essays and object pages to explore the processes inherent in gender representation rather than resituating women in particular categories or spheres as other scholarly publications and exhibitions have done Taking its lead from the Picturing Women project on which it reflects and builds the volume makes a substantial methodological contribution to the analysis of gender discourse and visibility It offers new and stimulating scholarship that confronts historical patterns of representation that have defined what women were and are seen to be and presents new contexts for unveiling what art historian Linda Nochlin has called the mixed messages of representations of women
