Water Politics And Money A Reality Check On Privatization:

Water, Politics and Money Manuel Schiffler, 2015-05-11 This book reveals all that can potentially happen when a private company takes over a local water supply system both the good and the bad Backed by real life stories of water privatization in action author Manuel Schiffler presents a nuanced picture free of spin or fear mongering Inside readers will find a detailed analysis of the multiple forms of water privatization from the outright sale of companies to various forms of public private partnerships After covering their respective strengths and weaknesses it then compares them to purely publicly managed water utilities The book examines the privatization and the public management of water and sewer utilities in twelve countries the United States the United Kingdom France Germany the Philippines Cambodia Egypt Jordan Uganda Bolivia Argentina and Cuba Readers will come to understand how and why some utilities failed while others succeeded including some that substantially increased access became more efficient and improved service quality even in the poorest countries of the world It is natural that a private company taking over a local water supply system causes both fear and worry for consumers With the aid of solid empirical evidence this book argues that who manages the system is only half the story Rather it is the corporate culture of the utilities and the political culture of where they operate that more often than not determines performance and how well a community is served A Mighty Capital under Threat Bill Luckin, Peter

Thorsheim, 2020-03-03 Demographically nineteenth century London or what Victorians called the new Rome first equaled then superseded its ancient ancestor By the mid eighteenth century the British capital had already developed into a global city Sustained by its enormous empire between 1800 and the First World War London ballooned in population and land area Nothing so vast had previously existed anywhere A Mighty Capital under Threat investigates the environmental history of one of the world's global cities and the largest city in the United Kingdom Contributors cover the feeding of London waste management movement between the city's numerous districts and the making and shaping of the environmental sciences in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Transnational Corporations in Urban Water Governance Joyce

Valdovinos, 2021-08-14 This book examines the role played by business in urban water governance by analyzing the evolution of the global private water sector along with four public private partnerships in Mexico and the U S The local nature of water services often hides the global developments behind the rise of transnational water corporations which have gone from being local operators to becoming dynamic and powerful actors within an interconnected transnational space for water This book focuses on the French groups Veolia and Suez two of the most prominent private actors in global water governance and the development and adaptation strategies of both companies in the cities of Aguascalientes Mexico City Atlanta and Milwaukee over the past 30 years Drawing on over 100 interviews conducted with corporate executives public authorities and local users of water services this book moves beyond the simplistic dichotomy of the public private debate and develops a theoretical framework that analyzes the economic and political power wielded by transnational business actors in global water governance Not only does the book explain how Veolia and Suez strategically mobilize resources at difference scales in order to expand their global operations but it also provides a nuanced picture of how state regulation remains of central importance to understanding the dynamics and evolution of the global water sector Students and scholars interested in business and the environment including public private partnerships business management and transnational corporations and water governance will find this book of great interest as will professionals and policymakers working in these fields

Publics in Action Christopher Kutz, C William Maxeiner Distinguished Professor Law and by Courtesy Philosophy and Political Science Christopher Kutz, 2025-08-27 In Publics in Action Christopher Kutz looks at how people should and do come together to create their shared institutions and the lessons we can learn from one another He argues that a healthy dynamic public takes itself seriously as a subject of action not just the passive beneficiary of a state institution Kutz builds the book around an extended metaphor we should understand ourselves as a public that improvises listening to each other as we riff off shared standards and so creating something new responsive to the scene and the moment

Empty Buckets and Overflowing Pits Roland Werchota, 2020-01-01 This book provides a multi level and multi dimensional insight into urban water and sanitation development by analyzing sector reforms in Africa With the recent events in mind water shortages in Cape Town widespread cholera in Haiti mass migration from low income countries etc it elaborates a pressing topic which is directly linked to the precarious living conditions of the urban poor in the developing countries It is urgent to acknowledge the proposed findings and recommendations of the book which will help to improve the situation of potential refugees in their home countries with a realistic vision for the development of the most basic of all life supporting services So many efforts to reverse the negative trend in water and sanitation development have failed or targets have been repeatedly missed by far without notable consequences for decision makers on different levels and institutions It has unnecessarily consumed many young lives contributed to keep billions in poverty until today and fostered discrimination of women The knowledge gap and the confusion in the sector lined out in the book becomes evident when a national leader in a low income country declares a state of emergency in urban water and sanitation while at the same time global monitoring publishes an access figure for urban water of over 90% for the same country It is time to change this with an effective sector development concept for our partner countries and a more realistic discourse on global level The book argues for a sweeping rethinking and combines extended local knowledge lessons learned from history in advanced countries and thorough research on reforms in Francophone and Anglophone developing countries This was possible because the writer was working in Sub Saharan partner countries for almost 30 years as an integrated long term advisor in different sector institutions ministry regulator financing basket and different sizes of utilities and had the opportunity to cooperate closely with the main development partners The reader has the opportunity to obtain a comprehensive understanding of how the sector works and sector institutions in low income countries function and can discover the reasons behind success and failures of reforms The book also covers issues which have a significant influence on urban water and sanitation development but are hardly the subject of discussions It helps to make the shortcomings of the water and sanitation discourse more apparent and assist institutions to move beyond their present perceptions and agendas All of this makes the book different from other literature about urban water and sanitation in the developing world

Belief and Religion in Barbarian Europe c. 350-700 Marilyn Dunn, 2013-11-28 This ground breaking study offers a new paradigm for understanding the beliefs and religions of the Goths Burgundians Sueves Franks and Lombards as they converted from paganism to Christianity between c 350 and c 700 CE Combining history and theology with approaches drawn from the cognitive science of religion Belief and Religion in Barbarian Europe uses both written and archaeological evidence to challenge many older ideas Beginning with a re examination of our knowledge about the deities and rituals of their original religions it goes on to question the assumption that the Germanic peoples were merely passive recipients of Christian doctrine arguing that so called Arianism was first developed as an entry level Christianity for the Goths Focusing on individual ethnic groupings in turn it presents a fresh view of the relationship between religion and politics as their rulers attempted to opt for Catholicism In place of familiar debates about post conversion pagan survivals contemporary texts and legislation are analysed to create an innovative cognitive perspective on the ways in which the Church endeavoured to bring the Christian God into people s thoughts and actions The work also includes a survey of a wide range of written and archaeological evidence contrasting traditional conceptions of death afterlife and funerary ritual with Christian doctrine and practice in these areas and exploring some of the techniques developed by the Church for assuaging popular anxieties about Christian burial and the Christian afterlife

Power, Powerlessness, and Globalization Opoku Agyeman, 2014-08-20 This book is about imperialism driven globalization its historic impact on Africa Latin America and Asia and over time the varied responses of the national political units and regional entities in these continents to the challenges of building countervailing power and laying foundations for independent development Where genuine recovery and empowerment have emerged this has been the result not only of the pursuit of dignitist political and economic values that emphasize robust and sustained productivity geared toward uplifting the living standards and dignity of all the members of the national society but also of the creation of indigenous institutions whose relations with the external world are defined by equality rather than dependence and subordination Opoku Agyeman argues that dignification is the fundamentally necessary response to imperialism s inevitable afflictions of national racial humiliation It is the most crucial ingredient in the complex of motivations that propel formerly weak nation states and regional communities to rise up and defend the honor of their people As Mao Zedong told the world in 1949 Ours will no longer be a nation subject to insult and humiliation We have stood up This study argues emphatically that it is a country s or region s developed or developing capabilities not its historic and continuing victimization or habitual dependence on charitable aid and other altruistic interventions from the international community that determines its success in escaping the scourge of powerlessness and underdevelopment It further maintains that a people who have been brought low through brutal dehumanizing imperialism cannot bypass the need for redemptive empowerment if they wish to regain honor and a proper place in the world Finally it takes issue with Joseph Stiglitz Jeffrey Sachs and others like them whose moralistic critiques of the rapacity of imperialistic globalization carry the unfortunate implication that it is possible for a fair and just world social order to come out of incremental reforms of philanthropically motivated developed powerful countries in the structure and operations of global capitalism
