Two Visits to Denmark Edmund Gosse, 2015-07-08 Excerpt from Two Visits to Denmark 1872 1874 A word about the impressions themselves They were written down at the time in journals and letters more or less roughly with no idea of publication In these days such a visitor would be writing for a newspaper or consciously preparing for a book In 1872 we were not so sophisticated and if I took copious notes it was with no thought that they would ever be published If it had been otherwise doubtless I should have secured many useful particulars now lost but I hope that a certain freshness is retained by the fact that I thought only of my own instruction and pleasure The elderly man who puts these pages together has not attempted to tone down the enthusiasm of the boy who wrote them yet if a sagacious reader is inclined to laugh at so much zeal about poetry and such sustained illusion why the author will not be grieved but somewhat sadly will smile too About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
