Writing in the Kitchen David A. Davis, Tara Powell, 2014-08-04 Scarlett O Hara munched on a radish and vowed never to go hungry again Vardaman Bundren ate bananas in Faulkner s Jefferson and the Invisible Man dined on a sweet potato in Harlem Although food and stories may be two of the most prominent cultural products associated with the South the connections between them have not been thoroughly explored until now Southern food has become the subject of increasingly self conscious intellectual consideration The Southern Foodways Alliance the Southern Food and Beverage Museum food themed issues of Oxford American and Southern Cultures and a spate of new scholarly and popular books demonstrate this interest Writing in the Kitchen explores the relationship between food and literature and makes a major contribution to the study of both southern literature and of southern foodways and culture more widely This collection examines food writing in a range of literary expressions including cookbooks agricultural journals novels stories and poems Contributors interpret how authors use food to explore the changing South considering the ways race ethnicity class gender and region affect how and what people eat They describe foods from specific southern places such as New Orleans and Appalachia engage both the historical and contemporary South and study the food traditions of ethnicities as they manifest through the written word

The Cambridge Companion to Literature and Food J. Michelle Coghlan, 2020-03-19 This Companion rethinks food in literature from Chaucer s Canterbury Tales to contemporary food blogs and recovers cookbooks as literary texts

Consumption and the Literary Cookbook Roxanne Harde, Janet Wesselius, 2020-11-18 Consumption and the Literary Cookbook offers readers the first book length study of literary cookbooks Imagining the genre more broadly to include narratives laden with recipes cookbooks based on cultural productions including films plays and television series and cookbooks that reflected and or shaped cultural and historical narratives the contributors draw on the tools of literary and cultural studies to closely read a diverse corpus of cookbooks By focusing on themes of consumption gastronomical and rhetorical the sixteen chapters utilize the recipes and the narratives surrounding them as lenses to study identity society history and culture The chapters in this book reflect the current popularity of foodie culture as they offer entertaining analyses of cookbooks the stories they tell and the stories told about them

Ecocriticism and the Future of Southern Studies Zackary Vernon, 2019-08-14 As the planet faces ever worsening disruptions to global ecosystems carbon and chemical emissions depletions of the ozone layer the loss of biodiversity rising sea levels air toxification and worsening floods and droughts scholars across academia must examine the cultural effects of this increasingly postnatural world That task proves especially vital for southern studies given how often the U S South serves as a site for large scale damming initiatives like the TVA disasters on the scale of Hurricane Katrina and the Deepwater Horizon spill and the extraction of coal oil and natural gas Ecocriticism and the Future of Southern Studies is the first book length collection of scholarship that applies interdisciplinary environmental humanities research to cultural analyses of the U S South Sixteen essays examine novels nature writing films television and music that address a broad range of ecological topics related to the region including climate change manmade and natural environments the petroleum industry food cultures waterways natural and human induced disasters waste management and the Anthropocene Edited by Zackary Vernon this volume demonstrates how the greening of southern studies in tandem with the southernization of environmental studies can catalyze alternative ways of understanding the connections between regional and global cultures and landscapes By addressing ecological issues central to life throughout the South Ecocriticism and the Future of Southern Studies considers the confluence between region and environment while also illustrating the growing need to see environmental issues as matters of social justice The work for students researchers and scholars in food studies film and media studies communication studies sociology cultural studies and American studies Inventing Authenticity Carrie Helms Tippen, 2018-08-12 In Inventing Authenticity Carrie Helms Tippen examines the rhetorical power of storytelling in cookbooks to fortify notions of southernness Tippen brings to the table her ongoing hunt for recipe cards and evaluates a wealth of cookbooks with titles like Y all Come Over and Bless Your Heart and famous cookbooks such as Sean Brock's Heritage and Edward Lee's Smoke and Pickles She examines her own southern history grounding it all in a thorough understanding of the relevant literature The result is a deft and entertaining dive into the territory of southern cuisine black eyed peas and cornbread fried chicken and fried okra pound cake and peach cobbler and a look at and beyond southern food tropes that reveals much about tradition identity and the yearning for authenticity Tippen discusses the act of cooking as a way to perform and therefore reinforce the identity associated with a recipe and the complexities inherent in attempts to portray the foodways of a region marked by a sometimes distasteful history Inventing Authenticity meets this challenge head on delving into problems of cultural appropriation and representations of race thorny questions about authorship and more The commonplace but deceptively complex southern cookbook can sustain our sense of where we come from and who we are or who we think we are

Southern Studies, 2021 An interdisciplinary journal of the South World War I and Southern Modernism David A. Davis, 2017-11-27 Winner of the 2018 Eudora Welty Prize When the United States entered World War I parts of the country had developed industries urban cultures and democratic political systems but the South lagged behind remaining an impoverished agriculture region Despite New South boosterism the culture of the early twentieth century South was comparatively artistically arid Yet southern writers dominated the literary marketplace by the 1920s and 1930s World War I brought southerners into contact with modernity before the South fully modernized This shortfall created an inherent tension between the region's existing agricultural social structure and the processes of modernization leading to distal modernism a form of writing that combines elements of modernism to depict non modern social structures Critics have struggled to formulate explanations for the eruption of modern southern literature sometimes called the Southern Renaissance Pinpointing World War I as the catalyst David A. Davis argues southern modernism was not a self generating outburst of writing but a response to the disruptions modernity generated in the region In World War I and Southern Modernism Davis examines dozens of works of literature by writers including William Faulkner Ellen Glasgow and Claude McKay that depict the South during the war Topics explored in the book include contact between the North and the South southerners who served in combat and the developing southern economy Davis also provides a new lens for this argument taking a closer look at African Americans in the military and changing gender roles Cornbread Nation 1 John Egerton, 2002 Presents a collection of essays that celebrate the food customs of the South from such writers as Roy Blount Jr Jessica Harris and James Villas American Jewish History, 2004 Library Journal, 2002 Includes beginning Sept 15 1954 and on the 15th of each month Sept May a special section School library journal ISSN 0000 0035 called Junior libraries 1954 May 1961 Also issued separately The Southern Register ,2006 Cornbread Nation 5 Fred William Sauceman,2010 The fifth volume in this popular series is a feast for the eyes spanning the food cultures of the South and celebrating food and the ways in which it forges unexpected relationships between people and places This collection of more than 70 essays and poems provides nourishment as well as a sense of community and shared history The Roots of Southern Writing C. Hugh Holman,2008 At the heart of the southern riddle you will find a union of opposites a condition of instability a paradox Calm grace and raw hatred Polished manners and violence An intense individualism and intense group pressures toward conformity A reverence to the point of idolatry of self determining action and a caste and class structure presupposing an aristocratic hierarchy A passion for political action and a willingness to surrender to the enslavement of demagogues A love of the nation intense enough to make the South s fighting men notorious in our wars and the advocacy of interposition and of the public defiance of national law A region breeding both Thomas Jefferson and John C Calhoun If these contradictions are to be brought in focus if these ambiguities are to be resolved it must be through the reconciliation of opposites And the reconciliation of opposites as Coleridge has told us is the function of the poet So begins the first of these seventeen penetrating essays drawn from long and fruitful reflection of southern life and art by C Hugh Holman Professor Holman maintains that there is a congeries of characteristics identifiably present in much southern writing and he astutely defines them in this collection William Gilmore Simms Ellen Glasgow Thomas Wolfe William Faulkner and Flannery O Connor are treated at length Among the other authors considered in terms of their roles in the making of the southern mind are James Branch Cabell T S Stripling Erskine Caldwell and Robert Penn Warren The essays strike a fine balance between general overview and specific analysis and they are so arranged as to make a unified study which forms a significant chapter in the intellectual history of the South Professor Holman asserts that out of the cauldron of the South s experience the southern writer has fashioned tragic grandeur and given it as a gift to his fellow Americans It is possible that no other southern accomplishment will equal it in enduring importance As urbanization and industrialism conspire to write an Epitaph for Dixie its greatest contribution to mankind may well be the lesson of its history and the drama of its suffering In these superb essays the author makes a convincing argument for that position The Larder John T. Edge,Elizabeth S. D. Engelhardt,Ted Ownby,Sara Camp Milam,2013-10-15 The sixteen essays in The Larder argue that the study of food does not simply help us understand more about what we eat and the foodways we embrace The methods and strategies herein help scholars use food and foodways as lenses to examine human experience The resulting conversations provoke a deeper understanding of our overlapping historically situated and evolving cultures and societies The Larder presents some of the most influential scholars in the discipline today from established authorities such as Psyche Williams Forson to emerging thinkers such as Rien T Fertel writing on subjects as varied as hunting farming and marketing as well as examining restaurants iconic dishes and cookbooks Editors John T Edge Elizabeth Engelhardt and Ted Ownby bring together essays that demonstrate that food studies scholarship as practiced in the American South sets methodological standards for the discipline The essayists ask questions about gender race and ethnicity as they explore issues of identity and authenticity And they offer new ways to think about material culture technology and the business of food The Larder is not driven by nostalgia Reading such a collection of essays may not encourage food metaphors It s not a feast not a gumbo certainly not a home cooked meal Ted Ownby argues in his closing essay Instead it s a healthy step in the right direction taken by the leading scholars in the field Stirring the Pot Laura Sloan Patterson,2008 The term domesticity may bring to mind cooking cleaning and tranquil evenings at home During the last few decades however American domesticity has become ever more politicized as third wave feminists conservative critics and others debate the very meaning of home and family Despite this new wave of debate the home particularly the kitchen is comfortable territory for the consolidation of issues of gender space marketplace community and technology in twentieth century literature This work looks closely at a wide variety of southern domestic literature focusing particularly on the role of the family kitchen as a driving force in the narratives of Ellen Glasgow Eudora Welty Lee Smith and Toni Morrison Topics include the overtones of isolation and the almost claustrophobic third person narration of Glasgow s Virginia and Life and Gabriella the communal kitchen and its role in defining the sexual discourse of Welty s Delta Wedding the unification of national railway lines and its consequences for the traditional Appalachian kitchen in Smith s Oral History and Fair and Tender Ladies and the lasting effects of slavery on the haunted domesticity of the African American kitchen in Morrison s Jazz Paradise and Love The Best of Southern Food Harry L. Watson,Marcie Cohen Ferris,2014-12-01 Nourishment nostalgia Native ingredients and global influences Southern Cultures s debut best of collection gets straight to the heart of the matter food For those of us who ve debated mayonnaise brand hushpuppy condiment or barbecue style including in some quarters whether the latter is a noun or a verb bless your heart we present here a collection equal to our passions Culled from our best food writing 2008 2014 this special volume serves up tomatoes turtles molasses Mother Corn and the Dixie Pig bourbon gravy cakes jams jellies pickles and chocolate pie Dig in And stay tuned for more best of collections to come Full Heather Richie,2020-03-17 This collection of essays calls on personal anecdotes as well as scholarly research and journalism to address food culture and media of the American South From key lime pies to cast iron skillet the author treads personal and collective memory to illuminate this southern foodways memoir Cornbread Nation 6 Brett Anderson,John T. Edge,2012 A colorful celebration of Southern foods Southern cooking and the people and traditions behind them gathers the best of food writing from magazines newspapers books and journals with contributions by Molly O Neill Calvin Trillin Michael Pollan Kim Severson and others Original
