Cognitive Modeling for Automated Human Performance Evaluation at Scale Haiyue Yuan, Shujun Li, Patrice Rusconi, 2020-09-16 Cognitive models and software tools have been widely used for both research and commercial purposes. Although they have proved very useful, there are some limitations preventing large scale modeling and simulation tasks to be carried out efficiently and effectively. In this book, we aim to provide readers with a systematic overview of state of the art cognitive modeling software tools and applications and an introduction to a new software framework for facilitating large scale modeling and simulation of human performance tasks. The authors first review cognitive modeling theories and then present an overview of state of the art software tools for cognitive modeling and simulation. Finally, the book focuses on the new software framework and a research prototype called CogTool, including how to incorporate behavioral data such as eye tracking data in modeling and simulation tasks. Typical applications of CogTool in HCI and cyber security are given to demonstrate its usefulness.

A Functional, Comprehensive and Extensible Multi-Platform Querying and Transformation Approach Tassilo Horn, 2015-07-11 This thesis is about a new model querying and transformation approach called FunnyQT, which is realized as a set of APIs and embedded domain specific languages (DSLs) in the JVM based functional Lisp dialect Clojure. Founded on a powerful model management API, FunnyQT provides querying services such as comprehensions, quantified expressions, regular path expressions, logic based relational model querying, and pattern matching. On the transformation side, it supports the definition of unidirectional model to model transformations, in place transformations, it supports defining bidirectional transformations, and it supports a new kind of co evolution transformations that allow for evolving a model together with its metamodel simultaneously. Several properties make FunnyQT unique. Foremost, it is just a Clojure library; thus, FunnyQT queries and transformations are Clojure programs. However, most higher level services are provided as task oriented embedded DSLs which use Clojure's powerful macro system to support the user with tailor made language constructs important for the task at hand. Since queries and transformations are just Clojure programs, they may use any Clojure or Java library for their own purpose, e.g. they may use some templating library for defining model to text transformations. Conversely, like every Clojure program, FunnyQT queries and transformations compile to normal JVM byte code and can easily be called from other JVM languages. Furthermore, FunnyQT is platform independent and designed with extensibility in mind. By default, it supports the Eclipse Modeling Framework and JGraLab, and support for other modeling frameworks can be added with minimal effort and without having to modify the respective framework's classes or FunnyQT itself. Lastly, because FunnyQT is embedded in a functional language, it has a functional emphasis itself. Every query and every transformation compiles to a function which can be passed around, given to higher order functions, or be parametrized with other functions
