Power in Language, Culture, Literature and Education Marta

Degani, Werner Delanoy, 2023-04-24 In one of the contributions to this edited volume an interviewee argues that English is power For researchers in the field of English Studies this raises the questions of where the power of English resides and which types and practices of power are implied in the uses of English Linguists scholars of literature and culture and language educators address aspects of these questions in a wide range of contributions The book shows that the power of English can oscillate between empowerment and subjection on the one hand enabling humans to develop manifold capabilities and on the other constraining their scope of action and reflection In this edited volume a case is made for self critical English Studies to be dialogic empowering and power critical in approach Knowing and Writing School History

Luciana C. de Oliveira, 2011-03-01 Because school history often relies on reading and writing and has its own discipline specific challenges it is important to understand the language demands of this content area the typical writing requirements and the language expectations of historical discourse History uses language in specialized ways so it can be challenging for students to construct responses to historical events It is only through a focus on these specialized ways of presenting and constructing historical content that students will see how language is used to construe particular contexts This book provides the results of a qualitative study that investigated the language resources that 8th and 11th grade students drew on to write an exposition and considered the role of writing in school history The study combined a functional linguistic analysis of student writing with educational considerations in the underresearched content area of history Data set consisted of writing done by students who were English language learners and other culturally and linguistically diverse students from two school districts in California The book is an investigation of expository school history writing and teachers expectations for this type of writing School history writing refers to the kind of historical writing expected of students at the pre college levels

Resources in Education, 1990 Teaching With Author Web Sites, K-8 Rose Reissman, Mark Gura, 2010 Drawing on extensive classroom experience the authors demonstrate how shy students reluctant readers English language learners and students who may be less active during class discussion become energized when they explore rich Web sites available from popular respected children's authors This book illustrates how this easy no risk technology available at a keystroke offers wide ranging benefits including Inviting students into a literacy community of readers and writers Fostering the development of discrete test mandated skills Capitalizing on and deepening students familiarity with the digital world in ways that enhance their literacy growth
