

The background of the entire slide is a close-up photograph of a piece of wood. The wood is heavily decayed, with a large, irregular, light-colored area in the center where the bark has been eaten away. Numerous small, dark, circular holes, characteristic of insect damage, are scattered across the entire surface of the wood. The wood's natural grain is visible, running vertically. The title text is overlaid on a dark green, semi-transparent band that spans the width of the image.
