Democracy and Post-Communism Graeme Gill, 2003-08-27 The collapse of communism was widely heralded as the dawn of democracy across the former Soviet region However the political outcome has been much less uniform The post communist states have developed political systems from democracy to dictatorship Using examples and empirical data collected from twenty six former Soviet states Graeme Gill provides a detailed comparative analysis of the core issues of regime change the creation of civil society economic reform and the

changing nature of post communism Within these individual cases it becomes clear that political outcomes have not been arbitrary but directly reflect the circumstances surrounding the birth of independence Students of Comparative Politics International Relations and Russian and Post Soviet Studies should find this book essential reading The Middle-Income Trap in Central and Eastern Europe Yaman Kouli,Uwe Müller,2023-11-10 Since the 1990s the economic development of Central and Eastern Europe has maintained high economic growth rates seemingly leading to an era of prosperity This very positive vision of future economic success linked to current political backlash and a long history of economic adversity is a thin veil of the economic way west for so called transition countries The Middle Income Trap in Central and Eastern Europe examines the reality of the diminishing marginal utility of further international investments alongside the pitfalls of higher government spending to cultivate innovation which ultimately makes foreign capital less attractive In this volume authors from diverse disciplinary perspectives reflect on current debates surrounding the developmental bottlenecks in East Central Europe Their common goal is to analyze the manner of socio economic transformation question of the relevance and impact of the middle income trap and identify possible ways to escape it Transition Report 1998 ,1998 Women in Transition ,1999 Governance, Development and Globalization Julio Faúndez,Mary Footer,Joseph Jude Norton,2000 Governance and law are today firmly on the agenda of the World Bank and other international financial institutions As the scope of the governance agenda expands so does the need to discuss and analyse the variety of factors that should be taken into account to ensure success in the implementation of governance related projects This book written by a distinguished group of lawyers and practitioners from developed and developing countries addresses a wide range of issues related to governance both at the local and international levels It covers topics that have long been on the governance agenda such as judicial training privatisation financial sector reform and various aspects of capacity building It also covers many issues that have only recently become part of the development agenda such as legal education the politics of institution building in rural and urban communities and the role of political parties in the establishment of democracy It includes studies that explore the often neglected links between the structures of domestic governance and the growing number of international economic law rules in the areas of trade investment technology transfer and the environment Banking Reforms in South-East Europe Zeliko Sevic,2002 Banking Reforms in South East Europe gives a critical and detailed overview of banking system restructuring in the transitional countries of South Eastern Europe Albania Bosnia and Herzegovina Bulgaria Croatia Macedonia Romania and Yugoslavia and offers suggestions for future reforms The book opens with a comparison of the experiences of Central European advanced transitional economies with those of the Balkan countries Proposals are put forward for ways in which positive aspects of the Central European experience can be applied to banking reform in the Balkans The authors examine the importance of regional collaboration for the overall economic and social transition in the region and consider whether it can facilitate the next stage of banking reform They also analyse the results of currency board arrangements as a possible alternative to classical central banking using the experiences of Bulgaria Bosnia and the Yugoslav Republic of Montenegro The book concludes with an analysis of the experience of individual economies and consists of a number of country specific banking studies covering all the transitional economies of South East Europe The book will be of great interest to both scholars of transition economies and policymakers in finance and financial institutions Economic Thought ,1999 Foreign Capital and Economic Transformation Claudia M. Buch,Ralph P. Heinrich,Christian Pierdzioch,1999 The advanced transition economies in Central and Eastern Europe have not only liberalized and reoriented their trade relations during the past decade they have been able to attract quite substantial amounts of foreign capital This has helped to rebuild their capital stocks which the transformation process had rendered partly obsolete At the same time the recent financial crises in Asia and Russia have heightened concerns about a speedy liberalization of capital flows and controls on short term capital flows are frequently being advocated This study traces the evidence available from four reform countries the Czech Republic Estonia Hungary and Poland with capital market integration Its main result is that domestic policies can have a substantial impact on the structure of capital flows and on the ability of emerging markets such as the transition economies to deal with adverse external shocks Taxing capital flows cannot serve as a substitute for prudent policies The available evidence suggests rather that the imposition of capital controls itself can be a cause of fluctuations of exchange rates and that controls on cross border capital flows are difficult to enforce Covering both the theoretical and empirical aspects of capital market integration of transition economies this book will be of interest to scholars and students of economics to international and national organizations dealing with economic issues and to research institutes banks and financial institutions Post-Soviet Geography and Economics ,2001 From the Adriatic to the Caucasus Stefano Bianchini,Centro militare di studi strategici (Italy),2001 OECD Working Papers ,2000 European Access ,2000 Ukrainian Economic Review ,1995 Transnational Corporations ,2000 Foreign Direct Investment Impact and Policy Analysis Inkeri Hirvensalo,Tuuli Juurikkala,2000
