

The background of the slide is a painting of a dense, lush forest. In the center, there is a small, light-colored building with a dark roof, possibly a cabin or a small house, nestled among the trees. A path or clearing leads towards the building. The trees are tall and have thick foliage, creating a sense of depth and mystery. The lighting is soft, suggesting a misty or early morning atmosphere. The overall tone is serene and somewhat somber.

Turquerie And The Politics Of Representation 1728-1876:

'Turquerie' and the Politics of Representation, 1728-1876 Nebahat Avcioglu, 2011 Devoted explicitly to the examination of Ottoman Turkish inspired architecture in Western Europe during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries in this study Nebahat Avcioglu rethinks the question of cultural frontiers not as separations but as a rapport of heterogeneities Reclaiming turquerie as cross cultural art from the confines of the inconsequential exoticism it is often reduced to Avcioglu analyses hitherto neglected constructions and links them to notions of self representation and politics "Turquerie and the Politics of Representation, 1728-1876" Nebahat Avcioglu, 2017-07-05 In this first full length study devoted explicitly to the examination of Ottoman Turkish inspired architecture in Western Europe during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Nebahat Avcioglu rethinks the question of cultural frontiers not as separations but as a rapport of heterogeneities Reclaiming turquerie as cross cultural art from the confines of the inconsequential exoticism it is often reduced to Avcioglu analyses hitherto neglected images designs and constructions and links Western interest in the Ottoman Empire to notions of self representation and national politics In investigating why and to what effect Europeans turned to the Turk for inspiration Avcioglu provides a far reaching cultural reinterpretation of art and architecture in this period Presented as a series of case studies focusing on three specific building types kiosks mosques and baths chosen on the basis that each represents the first full fledged manifestations of their respective genres to be constructed in Western Europe the study delves into the cultural politics of architectural forms and styles The author argues that the appropriation of those building types was neither accidental nor did it merely reflect European domination of another culture The process was essentially dialectical and contributed to transculturation in both the West and the East The Mobility of People and Things in the Early Modern Mediterranean Elisabeth A. Fraser, 2019-07-23 For centuries artists diplomats and merchants served as cultural intermediaries in the Mediterranean Stationed in port cities and other entrepôts of the Mediterranean these go betweens forged intercultural connections even as they negotiated and sometimes promoted cultural misunderstandings They also moved objects of all kinds across time and space This volume considers how the mobility of art and material culture is intertwined with greater Mediterranean networks from 1580 to 1880 Contributors see the movement of people and objects as transformational emphasizing the trajectory of objects over single points of origin multiplicity over unity and mutability over stasis Picturing Marie Leszczinska (1703-1768) Jennifer G. Germann, 2017-07-05 Portraits of Queen Marie Leszczinska 1703-1768 were highly visible in eighteenth century France Appearing in royal châteaux and after 1737 in the Parisian Salons the queen's image was central to the visual construction of the monarchy Her earliest portraits negotiated aspects of her ethnic difference French gender norms and royal rank to craft an image of an appropriate consort to the king Later portraits by Maurice Quentin de La Tour Carl van Loo and Jean Marc Nattier contributed to changing notions of queenship over the course of her 43 year tenure Whether as royal wife devout consort or devoted mother Marie Leszczinska's image mattered

While she has often been seen as a weak consort this study argues that queenly images were powerful and even necessary for Louis XV's projection of authority. This is the first study dedicated to analyzing the queen's portraits. It engages feminist theory while setting the queen's image in the context of portraiture in France, courtly factional conflict and the history of the French monarchy. While this investigation is historically specific, it raises the larger problem of the power of women's images versus the empowerment of women, a challenge that continues to plague the representation of political women today.

Handbook of Research on Contemporary Approaches to Orientalism in Media and Beyond Tombul, Işıl, Sarı, Gülşah, 2021-05-28. Orientalism is about much more than just information gathered about the East within its general postcolonial period. In this period, orientalism is a Western discourse that dominated and shaped the view of the East. There is otherization in the way the West has historically looked at the East and within the information presented about it. These original stories of travelers in the past and previous telling about the East are facing a reconstruction through modern types of media: Cinema, television, news, newspaper, magazine, internet, social media, photography, literature and more are transforming the way the East is presented and viewed. Under the headings of post orientalism, neo orientalism or self orientalism, these new orientalist forms of work in combination with both new and traditional media are redefining orientalism in the media and beyond. The Handbook of Research on Contemporary Approaches to Orientalism in Media and Beyond shows how both new media and traditional media deal with orientalism today through the presentation of gender, race, religion and culture that make up orientalist theory. The chapters focus on how orientalism is presented in the media, cinema, TV, photography and more. This book is ideal for communications theorists, media analysts, practitioners, researchers, academicians and students working in fields that include mass media, communications, film studies, ethnic studies, history, sociology and cultural studies.

The Afterlife of Used Things Ariane Fennetaux, Amélie Junqua, Sophie Vasset, 2014-10-03. Recycling is not a concept that is usually applied to the eighteenth century. The environment may not have existed as a notion then, yet practices of re-use and transformation obviously shaped the early modern world. Still, this period of booming commerce and exchange was also marked by scarcity and want. This book reveals the fascinating variety and ingenuity of recycling processes that may be observed in the commerce, crafts, literature and medicine of the eighteenth century. Recycling is used as a thought provoking means to revisit subjects such as consumption, the new science or novel writing and cast them in a new light where the waste of some becomes the luxury of others. Clothes worn to rags are turned into paper and into books and scientific breakthroughs are carried out in old kitchen pans.
