Europe's borders and exposing its education systems and labour markets to international competition While acknowledging the potentially positive aspects of mobility they also reveal many of the negative consequences arising from flaws in mobility governance and inequalities in access to opportunities arguing that when the management of mobility goes wrong we are left with a heightened level of precariousness and the reproduction of social inequality This discussion will be of interest to those working within Europe's mobility infrastructure as well as policymakers in the mobility field and students and scholars from across the social sciences

The Sacralization of Time João Nunes de Almeida, 2020-06-08 In this book João Nunes de Almeida rethinks the relationship between crisis and fascism in today's liberal democratic societies Arguing that fascism has adapted to a post modern idea of endless crisis Almeida challenges one of the strongest liberal myths in western politics namely that fascism and liberal democracy have different roots Fascism in Almeida's view is at the center of the very production of social relations in western capitalist societies and is the result of the very desire to be saved from crisis underlying liberal democracy It draws on stormy examples from Portugal's contemporary history with a particular focus on its fascist past and revolution to explore affinities between crisis and fascism in other spatial and historical contexts João Nunes de Almeida concludes that refusing to be saved from crisis becomes the refusal of any form of fascism in a more global context

Young People and Long-Term Unemployment Marco Giugni, Jasmine Lorenzini, Manlio Cinalli, Christian Lahusen, Simone Baglioni, 2020-12-30 Young People and Long Term Unemployment examines the consequences of long term unemployment for the personal social and political lives of young adults aged 18-34 across four European cities Cologne Germany Geneva Switzerland Lyon France and Turin Italy Adopting a multidimensional theoretical framework aiming to bring together insights based on the contextual macro organizational meso and individual micro levels and combining quantitative and qualitative data and analyses it reaches a number of important conclusions First our study shows that the experience of long term unemployment has a negative impact on different dimensions of young people s lives When compared to employed youth unemployed youth are less satisfied with their lives more isolated and less independent financially Second however there are important variations across the four cities This means that in spite of widespread retrenchments in some places the welfare state still acts as a buffer against unemployment Third although young unemployed people participate in politics equally if not slightly more than employed youth the young unemployed are often disconnected from politics This is so even when they have important grievances to express in the face of high youth unemployment precarious working conditions and grim future perspectives on the labor market This book will be useful for scholars interested in unemployment politics and youth politics researchers and teachers in political science sociology and social psychology Youth as/in Crisis Sara Carpenter,Shahrazad

Mojab,2017-08-26 Internationally there is a growing argument amongst policy makers and academics that broadening spectrums of young adults are at risk of various types of material social physical and cultural insecurity In this way the traditional identification of transitions from youth to adulthood marked by points of permanence such as stable employment are beginning to fray Through various academic popular and policy literatures young people today are imagined as being both threatened by social inequality as well as a threat against which our notions of security and social cohesion are constructed This edited collection includes empirical and theoretical work concerning the relationships between youth young adults public policy and educational research with its primary focus being new forms of public policy in Canada that we argue are emblematic of international policy instruments examining the policy and economic participation of young people Examining key sites of youth participation including post secondary institutions community based programs and work employment programs the included case studies examine how young people navigate and learn from everyday experiences of marginalization and violence while at the same time illuminating how these experiences are organized and reproduced through the very institutions that are meant to shape young people s engagement in society Young People and the Politics of Outrage and Hope ,2018-11-26 Young People and the Politics of Outrage and Hope brings together contributions from international youth studies experts who ask how young people and institutions are responding to high levels of unemployment student debt housing costs that lock many out of home ownership and the challenge to find meaningful modes of participation in neo liberal social contexts Contributors including Henry Giroux Anita Harris and Judith Bessant draw on a range of theoretical methodological and empirical work to identify and debate some of the challenges and opportunities of the politics of outrage and hope that should accompany academic community and political discussions about the futures that young people will inherit and make Young People and the Politics of Outrage and Hope is now available in paperback for individual customers The Crisis of Global Youth Unemployment Tamar Mayer,Sujata Moorti,Jamie K.
