Time Space Compression Historical Geographies Routledge Studies In Human Geography:

Time-Space Compression Barney Warf, 2008-03-03 This volume explores the multiple ways in which people experience time space compression in varying historical and geographical circumstances Including economic cultural social political and psychological dimensions of time space compression The Routledge International Handbook of European Social Transformations Peeter Vihalemm, Anu Masso, Signe Opermann, 2017-11-22 This book focuses on social transformations as one of the central topics in the social sciences The study of European social transformations is very valuable in the context of universal discussions within social sciences explaining invariable universal attributes of societies and examining changing attributes The book consists of 20 chapters on European social transformations written from the perspectives of distinguished scholars from such disciplines as economics political science educational science geography media and communication studies public management and administration social psychology and sociology The temporal and spatial range of the book is wide including such global changes as time space compression focusing particularly on change processes in Europe during the last two decades The book consists of four main parts beginning with an overview of the theoretical and methodological approaches and then focusing separately on post communist transformations institutional drivers of social transformations in the European Union and European transformations in the context of global processes The book presents current theoretical empirical and methodological approaches that complement the scientific literature on social transformations This book is both an invaluable resource for scholars and an indispensable teaching tool for use in the classroom and will be of interest to students academics and policy makers studying how this diverse region has changed over recent years Geographies of Entrepreneurship Elizabeth A. Mack, Haifeng Qian, 2016-03-10 This book addresses a gap in the present literature on the role that geography plays in the distribution of entrepreneurial activity Emerging work on entrepreneurial ecosystems suggests it is important entrepreneurship studies move beyond the mere identification of factors that impact entrepreneurial activity to consider the unique geographic contexts in which entrepreneurs operate These contexts include a variety of interactive elements including regional characteristics institutions actors and connectors As such this collection analyses entrepreneurial activity in regions around the globe The contributions explore a series of diverse regions in terms of their geographic historical industrial and institutional contexts The book also explores a range of topics such as patterns of regional subnational variations in entrepreneurial activity geographically mediated determinants of entrepreneurship inter temporal dynamics evolution of regional systems of entrepreneurship and the impact of entrepreneurship on regional development and regional entrepreneurship policy This book enhances our policy and practical knowledge about the unique regional context in which entrepreneurs operate and demonstrates the important role that geography plays in the spatial distribution of entrepreneurial activity Everyday Mobilities in Nineteenth- and Twentieth-Century British Diaries Colin G. Pooley, Marilyn E. Pooley, 2022-10-19 This book uses diaries written by ordinary

British people over the past two centuries to examine and explain the nature and extent of everyday mobilities such as travel to school to work to shop or to visit friends and to explore the meanings attached to these mobilities After a critical evaluation of diary writing the ways in which mobility changed over time interacted with new forms of transport technology and varied from place to place are examined Further chapters focus on the roles of family and life course gender income and class and journey purpose in shaping mobilities including immobility It is argued that easy and frequent everyday mobilities were experienced by most of the diarists studied that travellers could exercise their own agency to adapt easily to new forms of transport technology but that factors such as gender class and location also created significant mobility inequalities

The SAGE Handbook of Human Geography, 2v Roger Lee, Noel Castree, Rob Kitchin, Vicky Lawson, Anssi Paasi, Chris Philo, Sarah Radcliffe, Susan M. Roberts, Charles Withers, 2014-05-22 Superb How refreshing to see a Handbook that eschews convention and explores the richness and diversity of the geographical imagination in such stimulating and challenging ways Peter Dicken University of Manchester Stands out as an innovative and exciting contribution that exceeds the genre Sallie A Marston University of Arizona Captures wonderfully the richness and complexity of the worlds that human beings inhabit This is a stand out among handbooks Lily Kong National University of Singapore This wonderfully unconventional book demonstrates human geography's character and significance not by marching through traditional themes but by presenting a set of geographical essays on basic ideas practices and concerns Alexander B Murphy University of Oregon This SAGE Handbook stands out for its capacity to provoke the reader to think anew about human geography essays that offer some profoundly original insights into what it means to engage geographically with the world Eric Sheppard UCLA Published in association with the journal Progress in Human Geography edited and written by the principal scholars in the discipline this Handbook demonstrates the difference that thinking about the world geographically makes Each section considers how human geography shapes the world interrogates it and intervenes in it It includes a major retrospective and prospective introductory essay with three substantive sections on Imagining Human Geographies Practising Human Geographies Living Human Geographies The Handbook also has an innovative multimedia component of conversations about key issues in human geography as well as an overview of human geography from the Editors A key reference for any scholar interested in questions about what difference it makes to think spatially or geographically about the world this Handbook is a rich and textured statement about the geographical imagination

Performativity, Politics, and the Production of Social Space

Michael R. Glass, Reuben Rose-Redwood, 2014-01-10 Theories of performativity have garnered considerable attention within the social sciences and humanities over the past two decades At the same time there has also been a growing recognition that the social production of space is fundamental to assertions of political authority and the practices of everyday life However comparatively little scholarship has explored the full implications that arise from the confluence of these two streams of social and political thought This is the first book length edited collection devoted explicitly to showcasing geographical scholarship on the spatial politics of performativity It offers a timely intervention within the field of critical human geography by exploring the performativity of political spaces and the spatiality of performative politics Through a series of geographical case studies the contributors to this volume consider the ways in which a performative conception of the political might reshape our understanding of sovereignty political subjectification and the production of social space Marking the 20th anniversary of the publication of Judith Butler s classic Bodies That Matter 1993 this edited volume brings together a range of contemporary geographical works that draw exciting new connections between performativity space and politics

Space, Time and the Limits of Human Understanding Shyam Wuppuluri, Giancarlo Ghirardi, 2016-12-01 In this compendium of essays some of the world s leading thinkers discuss their conceptions of space and time as viewed through the lens of their own discipline With an epilogue on the limits of human understanding this volume hosts contributions from six or more diverse fields It presumes only rudimentary background knowledge on the part of the reader Time and again through the prism of intellect humans have tried to diffract reality into various distinct yet seamless atomic yet holistic independent yet interrelated disciplines and have attempted to study it contextually Philosophers debate the paradoxes or engage in meditations dialogues and reflections on the content and nature of space and time Physicists too have been trying to mold space and time to fit their notions concerning micro and macro worlds Mathematicians focus on the abstract aspects of space time and measurement While cognitive scientists ponder over the perceptual and experiential facets of our consciousness of space and time computer scientists theoretically and practically try to optimize the space time complexities in storing and retrieving data information The list is never ending Linguists logicians artists evolutionary biologists geographers etc all are trying to weave a web of understanding around the same duo However our endeavour into a world of such endless imagination is restrained by intellectual dilemmas such as Can humans comprehend everything Are there any limits Can finite thought fathom infinity We have sought far and wide among the best minds to furnish articles that provide an overview of the above topics We hope that through this journey a symphony of patterns and tapestry of intuitions will emerge providing the reader with insights into the questions What is Space What is Time Chapter 15 of this book is available open access under a CC BY 4 0 license
