Transforming Citizenship Transforming Citizenship:

Transforming Citizenship Isaac West, 2014 Transforming Citizenship engages the performativity of citizenship as it relates to transgender individuals and advocacy groups Instead of reading the law as a set of self-executing discourses Isaac West takes up transgender rights claims as performative productions of complex legal subjectivities capable of queering accepted understandings of genders sexualities and the normative forces of the law Drawing on an expansive archive from the correspondence of a transwoman arrested for using a public bathroom in Los Angeles in 1954 to contemporary lobbying efforts of national transgender advocacy organizations West advances a rethinking of law as capacious rhetorics of citizenship justice equality and freedom When approached from this perspective citizenship can be recuperated from its status as the bad object of queer politics to better understand how legal discourses open up sites for identification across identity categories and enable political activities that escape the analytics of heteronormativity and homonationalism

Migrant Women Transforming Citizenship Umut Erel, 2016-04-22 Migrant Women Transforming Citizenship develops essential insights concerning the notion of transnational citizenship by means of the life stories of skilled and educated migrant women from Turkey in Germany and Britain It interweaves and develops theories of citizenship identity and culture with the lived experiences of an immigrant group that has so far received insufficient attention By focusing on the British and German contexts it introduces a much needed European and comparative perspective whilst exploring the ways in which diverging concepts and policies of citizenship allow for a differentiated examination of ethnicity gender multiculturalism and citizenship in Europe Presenting a significant and welcome contribution to our understanding of the complexities of multiculturalism it challenges Orientalist images of women as backward and oppressed Through engagement with the changing realities of education work intimacy family and social activism this volume provides a situated account of how the concepts of citizenship transnationality and culture play out in actual social relations With its rich empirical material the book explores how migrant women create new practices and meanings of belonging across boundaries Critiquing dominant multiculturalist and anti multiculturalist accounts this book suggests how citizenship debates can be reframed to be inclusive of migrant women as actors As such it will appeal to those working across a range of social sciences including sociology and the sociology of work race and ethnicity citizenship cultural and gender studies as well as anthropology and social and public policy
