Stranger by Night Edward Hirsch, 2022-03-01 Now in his seventies the award winning poet looks back on what was and accepts what is in a deeply moving and beautiful sequence about what sustains him Beginning with My Friends Don't Get Buried the lament of a delinquent mourner as his friends have begun to die and ending with the plaintive note to self don't write elegies anymore Edward Hirsch takes us backward through the decades in these memory poems of startling immediacy He recalls the black dress a lover wore when he couldn't yet know the tragedy of her burning spirit the radiance of an autumn day in Detroit when his students smoked outside passionately discussing Shelley the day he got off late from a railyard shift and missed an antiwar demonstration There are direct and indirect elegies to lost contemporaries like Mark Strand William Meredith and most especially his longtime compatriot Philip Levine whom he honors in several poems about daily work in the late mid century Midwest As the poet ages and begins to lose his peripheral vision the world is stranger by night but these elegant heart stirring poems shed light on a lifetime that inevitably contains both sorrow and joy Wild Gratitude Edward Hirsch, 2013-12-11 An excerpt from the poem Wild Gratitude Tonight when I knelt down next to our cat Zooney And put my fingers into her clean cat's mouth And rubbed her swollen belly that will never know kittens And watched her wriggle onto her side pawing the air And listened to her solemn little squeals of delight I was thinking about the poet Christopher Smart Who wanted to kneel down and pray without ceasing In everyone of the splintered London streets And was locked away in the madhouse at St Luke's With his sad religious mania and his wild gratitude And his grave prayers for the other lunatics And his great love for his speckled cat Jeoffry All day today August 13 1983 I remembered how Christopher Smart blessed this same day in August 1759 For its calm bravery and ordinary good conscience Poet's Choice Edward Hirsch, 2006 A collection of revised and expanded writings culled from the author's popular Washington Post Book World Poet's Choice column demonstrates how poetry responds to world challenges and introduces the work of more than 130 writers Earthly Measures Edward Hirsch, 2013-10-09 Edward Hirsch's strong arresting poems have been praised from the start of his career Of his second book Wild Gratitude Robert Penn Warren said I am convinced that the best poems here are unsurpassed in our time This his fourth collection contains his finest work From gritty apocalyptic views of the urban Midwest to brilliantly empathetic portrayals of Simone Weil and Hugo von Hofmannsthal the range of poems is at once wide and subtle In the Midwest speaks of the nightmare of abandon and decay From a Train Hofmannsthal in Greece is the poet's compelling view of a timeless landscape The Italian Muse is a meditation on Henry James in Rome Luminist Paintings at the National Gallery beautifully evokes the sense of nineteenth century American countryside There is an argument about transcendence in these poems an evocation of American spaces and European landscapes a quest for reconciliation to the earth as it is Hirsch's work as Anthony Hecht has said has not only the courage of its strong emotions but the language and form that makes and keeps them clear and true Museum Mediations Barbara K. Fisher, 2006-01-24 This interdisciplinary study participates in the ongoing critical conversation about postwar American poetry and visual culture while advancing that field into the arena of the museum Turning to contemporary poems about the visual arts that foreground and interrogate a museum setting the book demonstrates the particular importance of the museum as a cultural site that is both inspiration and provocation for poets The study uniquely bridges the dual canon in contemporary poetry and calls the lyric avant garde distinction into question by analyzing museum sponsored anthologies as well as poems by John Ashbery Richard Howard Kenneth Koch Kathleen Fraser Cole Swensen Anne Carson and others Through these case studies of poets with diverse affiliations the author shows that the boom in ekphrasis in the past 20 years is not only an aesthetic but a critical phenomenon a way that poets have come to terms with the critical dilemmas of our moment Highlighting the importance of poets peripheral vision awareness of the institutional conditions that frame encounters with art the author contend that a museum visit becomes a forum for questioning oppositions that have preoccupied literary criticism for the past 50 years homage and innovation modernism and postmodernism subjectivity and collectivity The study shows that ekphrasis becomes a strategy for negotiating these impasses a mode of political inquiry a meditation on canonization a venue for comic appraisal of institutionalization and a means of site specific feminist revision in a vital synthesis of critique perspicacity and pleasure

The Image and Influence of America in German Poetry Since 1945 Gregory Divers,2002 Examines the image of the US in German poetry and the reception and influence of American poetry in Germany since 1945 This book focuses on the image of the US in German poetry and the reception of American poetry in Germany since 1945 Gregory Divers examines poems by major figures in 20th century German literature Benn Brecht Bachmann Jandl and Grass among others and by other poets who shaped America s postwar image in Germany Divers traces America s postwar status in Germany from the prisoner of war poems of G nter Eich to the pop poetry of Rolf Dieter Brinkmann and Peter Handke Continuing he finds that although the 1960s protest poems of Erich Fried and others reflect the tarnishing of America s image due to Vietnam 1970s travel poems by Brinkmann Kunert and Kunze confirm the resiliency of that image Finally Divers looks at poems by Hartung Delius and Kling to illustrate the new heights reached by America s image within German literary circles during the 1980s and the status of America in Germany after reunification In charting these developments in postwar German poetry Divers also shows how American influences are crucial to its understanding not only surveying postwar German reception of Whitman Eliot Pound and William Carlos Williams but also examining the influence of such figures as Charles Olson and Robert Creeley Allen Ginsberg and the Beats Frank O Hara and John Ashbery and Robert Lowell and Sylvia Plath Gregory Divers is Assistant Professor of German at Saint Louis University
