Traumatic Realism The Demands Of Holocaust Representation By Rothberg Michael 2000 Paperback:

Traumatic Experience and Repressed Memory in Magical Realist Novels Md Abu Shahid Abdullah, 2020-03-02 This book explores the close association between the literary representation of historical trauma and the alternative narrative form of magical realism underscoring the role of memory empathy and imagination It discusses the potential of magical realism to give a literary representation to individual and collective trauma arising from the Holocaust slavery and apartheid and to turn those unspoken memories into narratives It also analyses the role of magical realism in depicting trauma suffered by female victims during and following those events Again by dealing with the above mentioned events their specific historical context and universal meaning for humankind this book highlights a universal experience of trauma Trauma, Gender and Ethics in the Works of E.L. Doctorow María Ferrández San Miguel, 2020-01-24 This project approaches four of E L Doctorow s novels Welcome to Hard Times 1960 The Book of Daniel 1971 Ragtime 1975 and City of God 2000 from the perspectives of feminist criticism and trauma theory The study springs from the assumption that Doctorow s literary project is eminently ethical and has an underlying social and political scope This crops up through the novels overriding concern with injustice and their engagement with the representation of human suffering in a variety of forms The book puts forward the claim that E L Doctorow s literary project through its representation of psychological trauma and its attitude towards gender may be understood as a call to action against both each individual s indifference and the wider social and political structures and ideologies that justify and or facilitate the injustices and oppression to which those who are situated at the margins of contemporary US society are subjected Traumatic Realism Michael Rothberg, 2000 Analyzes the impact of historical trauma on contemporary culture How to approach the Holocaust and its relationship to late twentieth century society While some stress the impossibility of comprehending this event others attempt representations in forms as different as the nonfiction novel and Hollywood blockbuster Schindler s List the documentary Shoah and the comic book Maus This problem is at the center of Michael Rothberg s book a focused account of the psychic intellectual and cultural aftermath of the Holocaust Drawing on a wide range of texts Michael Rothberg puts forth an overarching framework for understanding representations of the Holocaust Through close readings of such writers and thinkers as Theodor Adorno Maurice Blanchot Ruth Kluger Charlotte Delbo Art Spiegelman and Philip Roth and an examination of films by Steven Spielberg and Claude Lanzmann Rothberg demonstrates how the Holocaust as a traumatic event makes three fundamental demands on representation a demand for documentation a demand for reflection on the limits of representation and a demand for engagement with the public sphere and commodity culture As it establishes new grounding for Holocaust studies his book provides a new understanding of realism modernism and postmodernism as responses to the demands of history

Wounded Scholar, Healing Witness Idit Gil, Stefanie Hofer, 2025-09-03 This edited book focuses on the role of scholars in studying their own individual traumas exploring the complex interplay between personal trauma and scholarly engagement It gathers a diverse range of contributions including an essay seven articles and an insightful interview The authors discuss the emotional ethical and intellectual challenges they faced in the research and representation of their traumas They examine how personal and collective wounds shape individual identities community narratives and broader societal dynamics in Europe Asia Australia and the Americas from the 1930s to the present The causes of trauma are multifaceted and include the current war in the Middle East school shootings in the USA the AIDS crisis in South Africa genocides such as the Holodomor and the Holocaust nuclear warfare during the Second World War and childhood abuse Following the diverse methodologies employed in trauma studies this volume reflects multidisciplinary backgrounds and will be beneficial for students scholars and researchers of literature film studies history psychology musicology and visual art The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Life Writing Contemporary American Trauma Narratives Alan Gibbs, 2014-06-16 This book looks at the way writers present the effects of trauma in their work It explores narrative devices such as metafiction as well as events in contemporary America including 9 11 the Iraq War and reactions to the Bush administration Eva Figes' Writings Silvia Pellicer-Ortin, 2015-10-13 This book provides a general overview of the life and literary career of the prolific writer Eva Figes placing her extensive production within the various literary movements that have shaped the last century and drawing on the main features of her works and the different stages in her production Having recourse to the tools provided by narratology and using the theoretical background of the disciplines of ethics Holocaust and trauma studies together with other related fields such as theories of artistic representation identity questions concerning Jewishness contemporary history and philosophy it carries out a comprehensive analysis of Figes s main works The main starting hypothesis explored throughout the book is that an evolution may be traced in the aesthetics employed by Figes throughout her career from her initial Modernist phase to her more realist position to depict individual and collective traumas This development is a result of her need to find a mode of representing various traumatic events that have given shape to her personal and family history and to our recent collective history from the two World Wars and the Holocaust to the social exclusion suffered by minority groups like women or the Jewish immigrant communities This evolution will be also approached thematically as there is a development from her early interest in depicting isolated male traumatised characters to the traumas suffered by women under patriarchal structures and then to the encounter with her own suffering as a Holocaust survivor The author s evolution in the topics and narrative techniques employed mirrors the different stages in the individual and collective processes of recovery from traumatic experiences from the process of acting out to the eventual healing phase Thus the conclusions detailed here will be useful not only to make Figes work known to a wider audience but also to gain an insight into the evolution of the literary tendencies of the last few decades in trying to represent some of the most horrible events of the modern age Theodor Adorno , Comparative Literature and the Historical Imaginary Kaisa Kaakinen, 2017-06-12 This book argues that increasingly transnational reading contexts of the twenty first century place new pressures on fundamental questions about how we read literary fiction Prompted by the stylistic strategies of three European migr writers of the twentieth century Conrad Weiss and Sebald it demonstrates the need to pose more differentiated questions about specific effects that occur when literary narratives meet a readership with a heterogeneous historical imaginary In conversation with reception theory trauma theory and transnational and postcolonial studies the study shows how historical pressures in the twentieth and twenty first centuries require comparative literature to address not only implied but also various unimplied reading positions that engage history in displaced yet material ways This book opens new analytical paths for thinking about literary texts as media of historical imagination and conceiving relations between incommensurable historical events and contexts Challenging overly global and overly local readings alike the book presents a sophisticated contribution to discussions on how to reform the discipline of comparative literature in the twenty first century
