Timothy G. Ashplant, Graham Dawson, Michael Roper, War memory and commemoration have had increasingly high profiles in public and academic debates in recent years This volume examines some of the social changes that have led to this development among them the passing of the two world wars from survivor into cultural memory Focusing on the politics of war memory and commemoration the book illuminates the struggle to install particular memories at the center of a cultural world and offers an extensive argument about how the politics of commemoration practices should be understood

Commemorating War analyzes a range of forms of remembrance from public commemorations orchestrated by nation states to personal testimonies of war survivors and from cultural memories of war represented in films plays and novels to investigations of wartime atrocities in courts of human rights It presents a wide range of international case studies encompassing lesser known national histories and wars beyond the well trodden terrain of Vietnam and the two world wars in Europe Emerging from this book is an important critique of both state centered approaches to war memory and those that regard commemoration primarily as a human response to loss and grief Offering a wealth of empirical research material this book will be important for cultural and oral historians sociologists researchers in international relations and human rights and anybody with an interest in the cultural construction of memory in contemporary society Timothy G Ashplant is a member of the Research Center for Literature and Cultural History at Liverpool John Moores University He has published on psychoanalysis and history and the life writings of working class men and women in Britain Graham Dawson teaches cultural and historical studies at the University of Brighton His publications include Soldier Heroes British Adventure Empire and the Imagining of Masculinities and Trauma and Life Stories with Kim Lacy Rogers and Selma Leydesdorff Michael Roper works as a social and cultural historian in the Department of Sociology at the University of Essex His previous publications include Manful Assertions Masculinities in Britain since 1800 with John Tosh and Masculinity and the British Organization Man since 1945 War and Remembrance in the Twentieth Century Jay Winter, Emmanuel Sivan, 2000-08-27 How war has been remembered collectively is the central question in this volume War in the twentieth century is a vivid and traumatic phenomenon which left behind it survivors who engage time and time again in acts of remembrance This volume containing essays by outstanding scholars of twentieth century history focuses on the issues raised by the shadow of war in this century The behaviour not of whole societies or of ruling groups alone but of the individuals who do the work of remembrance is discussed by examining the traumatic collective memory resulting from the horrors of the First World War the Spanish Civil War the Second World War and the Algerian War By studying public forms of remembrance such as museums and exhibitions literature and film the editors have succeeded in bringing together a volume which demonstrates that a popular kind of collective memory is still very much alive Beacham's Encyclopedia of Popular Fiction Kirk H.
