Acts of Interpretation Naomi Janowitz, 2022-05-09 Ancient authors debated proper verbal and non verbal signs as representations of divinity. These understandings of signs were based on ideas drawn from language and thus limited due to their partial understanding of the multi functionality of signs. Charles S Peirce's semiotics as adapted by anthropological linguists including Michael Silverstein better explains the contextual linkages performativity of ancient religious signs such as divine names. Sign meaning is always dependent on processes of interpretation and is always open to reinterpretation. Focusing on these processes permits a more detailed analysis of the ancient evidence. Examples are drawn from ancient Israelite verbal and non verbal divine representation the apostle Paul's linguistic letter spirit model Christian debates about the limits of language to best represent the deity Josephus' aniconic advertisement of Jewish rites the multi layered divine representations in the Dura Europos synagogue the diverse performativity of Jewish ascent liturgies and the single modern example the role of art at Burning Man. Divine representation is the basis for ritual efficacy even as sign meaning is a constant source of contention.
