Allen, 1968 Sound Matters Margaret E. Lee, 2018-11-06 Sound matters The New Testament's first audiences were listeners not readers They heard its compositions read aloud and understood their messages as linear streams of sound To understand the New Testament's meaning in the way its earliest audiences did we must hear its audible features and understand its words as spoken sounds Sound Matters presents essays by ten scholars from five countries and three continents who explore the New Testament through sound mapping a technique invented by Margaret Lee and Bernard Scott for analyzing Greek texts as speech Sound Matters demonstrates the value and uses of this technique as a prelude and aid to interpretation The essays that make up this volume illustrate the wide range of interpretive possibilities that emerge when sound mapping restores the spoken sounds of the New Testament and revives its living voice Manuscripts of the Greek

Studies on ›P. Oxy.‹ XXXI 2537 Linda Rocchi, 2020-11-09 Among the very few papyri devoted to the work of the Attic orator Lysias one of the most interesting is certainly P Oxy XXXI 2537 Dated palaeographically to the late 2nd early 3rd century CE it contains the summaries of 22 Lysianic speeches 18 of which were formerly unknown or known just by the title and brief quotations in lexicographers And yet despite the undeniable richness of this collection the papyrus has generally received little attention from modern scholarship and no complete survey of its many aspects of significance has been yet produced This work aims to fill this gap along with a new transcription and critical edition based on autopsy of the papyrus this book provides a translation and the first exhaustive commentary of the text Through careful textual and juridical analysis the author examines both the relationship between summaries and speeches with a discussion of the significant legal features of each procedure and the overall importance of this papyrus for the history of the corpus of Lysias The book will thus be of interest for papyrologists

Essays in the History of Linguistics E. F. K. Koerner, 2004-01-01 The present volume follows the author's tradition of bringing together at certain intervals selections of articles which more often than not had previously been published in not easily accessible places or which had not been published before These papers do not typically represent mere reprints but in most instances thoroughly revised versions This volume contains twelve articles organized under three headings Programmatic Papers in the History of Linguistics Studies in Linguistic Historiography and Sketches historiographical and auto biographical plus as an appendix a complete list of Zellig Harris writings as an illustration of Koerner's penchant for and belief in the importance of good bibliographies as a basis for historical research While the first two sections which take up the bulk of the volume either show the author as an historian engage or demonstrate his work as a historiographer of 19th and 20th century linguistics the third section is much shorter and less heavy going Indexes of Biographical Names and of Subjects Terms Languages round out the volume which also contains a number of portraits of linguists and other illustrations

Byzantine Commentaries on Aristotle's ›Rhetoric‹ Melpomeni Vogiatzi, 2019-07-08 Anonymous and Stephanus commentaries written in the 12th century AD are the first surviving commentaries on Aristotle's Rhetoric Their study including the environment in which they were written and the philosophical ideas expressed in them provides a better understanding of the reception of Aristotle's Rhetoric in Byzantium the Byzantine practice of commenting on classical texts and what can be called Byzantine philosophy For the first time this book explores the context of production of the commentaries discusses the identity and features of their authors and reveals their philosophical and philological significance In particular I examine the main topics discussed by Aristotle in the Rhetoric as contributing to persuasion namely valid and fallacious rhetorical arguments ethical notions emotional response and style and I analyse the commentators' interpretations of these topics In this analysis I focus on highlighting the value of the philosophical views expressed and on creating a discussion between the Byzantine and the modern interpretations of the treatise Conclusively the two commentators need to be considered as independent thinkers who aimed primarily at integrating the treatise within the Aristotelian philosophical system Sound Mapping the New Testament Margaret Ellen Lee, Bernard Brandon Scott, 2024-03-28 In the ancient world writings were read aloud heard and remembered In contrast modern exegesis assumes a silent text For Margaret Lee and Bernard Scott the disjuncture between ancient and modern approaches to literature obscures the beauty and meaning in writings such as the New Testament As the structure of an ancient Greek composition derives first from its sounds and not from the meaning of its words sound analysis analysis of the signifier and its audible dimension are crucial to interpretation Sound Mapping the New Testament explores writing technology in the Greco Roman world and uses ancient Greek literary criticism for descriptions of grammar as a science of sound and literary composition as a woven fabric of speech Based on these perspectives and a close analysis of writings from the four Gospels Paul and Q Lee and Scott advance a theory of sound analysis that enables modern readers to hear the New Testament afresh This second edition includes a new introduction which reviews a decade of sound mapping scholarship
