Re-Enacting the Past Mads Daugbjerg, Rivka Eisner, Britta Knudsen, 2017-10-02 What is re enactment and how does it relate to heritage Re enactments are a ubiquitous part of popular and memory culture and are of growing importance to heritage studies. As concept and practice, re-enactments encompass a wide range of forms from the annual Viking Moot festival in Denmark drawing thousands of participants and spectators to the re-staged war photography of An My L to the Titanic Memorial Cruise commemorating the centennial of the ill-fated voyage to the symbolic retracing of the Berlin Wall across the city on 9 November 2014 to mark the 25th anniversary of its toppling. Re-enactments involve the sensuousness of bodily experience and engagement, the exhilarating yet precarious combination of imagination with historical fact in the moment negotiations between and within temporalities and the compelling drive to re-make or re-present the past. As such, re-enactments present a number of challenges to traditional understandings of heritage including taken-for-granted assumptions regarding fixity, conservation, originality, ownership and authenticity. Using a variety of international cross-disciplinary case studies, this volume explores re-enactment as practice, problem and/or potential in order to widen the scope of heritage thinking and analysis toward impermanence, performance, flux, innovation and creativity. This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Heritage Studies.
