Domesticity and Dissent in the Seventeenth Century Katharine Gillespie,2004-02-05 In Domesticity and Dissent Katharine Gillespie examines writings by seventeenth century English Puritan women who fought for religious freedom Seeking the right to preach and prophesy women such as Katherine Chidley Anna Trapnel Elizabeth Poole and Anne Wentworth envisioned the modern political principles of toleration the separation of Church from state privacy and individualism Gillespie argues that their sermons prophesies and petitions illustrate the fact that these liberal theories did not originate only with such well known male thinkers as John Locke and Thomas Hobbes Rather they emerged also from a group of determined female religious dissenters who used the Bible to reassess traditional definitions of womanhood public speech and religious and political authority Gillespie takes the pamphlet literatures of the seventeenth century as important subjects for analysis and her study contributes to the important scholarship on the revolutionary writings that emerged during the volatile years of the mid seventeenth century Civil War in England
