Turmoil In High Land:

Turmoil in Highland? Roland Rodene, 2017-10-17 This novel is the story of a man who lives and breathes High Land in the very fiber of his being This man is Anglaisien He carries a thousand and one memories of things and people both seen and heard as well as life stories and experiences In spite of his fear he goes alone at night to the cave His audacity bears fruit He receives a call from the other world In the cave instead of Sarasin he finds himself face to face with a silhouette it is his mother High Land He learns two astonishing and extraordinary truths firstly that he has been given a mission to publish His Mother s Cause and secondly that she will be the Mother of All Nations Now he and the ravishing Miss Oloffson cross paths If in the beginning there was Adam and Eve on the eve of the emergence of the Land of Nations there is Anglaisien and Miss Olofsson Given their passion for High Land will they become King and Queen High Land is in solid alliance with Suezza Miss Olofsson s native country and all of her sister nations The emergence of High Land Land of All Nations this new center of the universe will this soon take place In this work of marvelous magical and prophetic allure many worlds many levels of symbolism mystery and knowledge seem to exist together interconnect or intersect The places numbers and characters seem allegorical and resemble carriers of coded messages To all those who are interested in the emergence of Haiti in its earthly and subterranean mysteries in its waters caves Indian and colonial ruins the novelist Roland RodenE born in Les Anglais Haiti friend of God author of Cynbel and Zothia holder of a Bachelor s degree in Economics and a Master s Degree in Administrative Studies Multinational Commerce from Boston University offers much to question examine compare and reflect upon in a quest to delve more deeply into the myths and mysteries of Haiti For when it concerns Haiti fiction is never very far from reality and vice versa The Book of Highland Verse Dugald Mitchell, 1912 Initiating Change in Highland Ethiopia Dena Freeman, 2002-10-17 In a rural community in Southern Ethiopia there are two types of rituals performed by the same people Historical evidence suggests that one has shown remarkable stability over the years while the other has undergone massive transformations External factors are the same so how is this to be explained In this 2002 book Dena Freeman focuses on ethnographical and historical data from the Gamo Highlands of Southern Ethiopia to tackle the question of cultural change and transformation She uses a comparative perspective and contrasts the continuity in sacrificial rituals with the rapid divergence and differentiation in initiations Freeman argues that although external change drives internal cultural transformation the way in which it does is greatly influenced by the structural organization of the cultural systems themselves This insight leads to a rethinking of the analytic tension between structure and agency that is at the heart of contemporary anthropological theory Highland Park Julia Johnas, 2007 Highland Park represents one of the finest examples of late 19th century suburban development Its abundant natural beauty was quickly recognized and preserved by the visionary design of two well known landscape architects Horace W S Cleveland and William M R French Capitalizing on the setting and boasting good schools good churches and good society the Highland Park Building Company transformed the scenic village into one of the most desirable communities on Chicago's North Shore attracting socially prominent residents who built gracious lakefront estates and quiet country homes along its bluffs and shady lanes Historic photographs illustrate the transformation from forest and farmland to a fashionable residential community and capture the social civic and business accomplishments of Highland Park's early citizens The city's early progress and prosperity are celebrated in this book
