Bousquet, 2018-10-09 How perceptual technologies have shaped the history of war from the Renaissance to the present From ubiquitous surveillance to drone strikes that put warheads onto foreheads we live in a world of globalized individualized targeting The perils are great In The Eye of War Antoine Bousquet provides both a sweeping historical overview of military perception technologies and a disquieting lens on a world that is increasingly one in which anything or anyone that can be perceived can be destroyed in which to see is to destroy Arguing that modern day global targeting is dissolving the conventionally bounded spaces of armed conflict Bousquet shows that over several centuries a logistical order of militarized perception has come into ascendancy bringing perception and annihilation into ever closer alignment The efforts deployed to evade this deadly visibility have correspondingly intensified yielding practices of radical concealment that presage a wholesale disappearance of the customary space of the battlefield Beginning with the Renaissance s fateful discovery of linear perspective The Eye of War discloses the entanglement of the sciences and techniques of perception representation and localization in the modern era amid the perpetual quest for military superiority In a survey that ranges from the telescope aerial photograph and gridded map to radar digital imaging and the geographic information system Bousquet

Science et vie ,1947 Naval Camouflage 1914-1945 David L. Williams, 2001 Although it is a subject of immense importance to warship enthusiasts modelmakers photograph collectors and indeed academic naval historians there has never been an authoritative history of camouflage Apart from the huge scale of the subject the reason for this lies largely in the fragmented nature of the surviving evidence and the ad hoc nature of much wartime development This book does not claim to be such a narrative history but it does set out to provide a comprehensive study Visual and illustrative in its approach it is Anglo American in emphasis but the camouflage patterns of enemy navies and selected neutrals are covered as well
