Perception of Energy Experts on the Adoption of Energy Efficient Technology Ir. Dr. THIRUMALAICHELVAM SUBRAMANIAM, 2019-04-22 Barriers to commercial and industrial energy efficiency improvements in Klang Valley Malaysia are more pronounced due to the existence of factors such as weak policy and regulatory frameworks economic and financial constraints lack of information and other issues This research utilized a qualitative research methodology using a phenomenology approach aimed at enhancing the knowledge of commercial and industrial energy efficiency in Klang Valley Malaysia by investigating the barriers associated with the implementation of energy efficiency measure The eleven main themes and twenty eight sub themes identified from the study revealed that energy is poorly managed in the various commercial and industrial sectors and that there is an energy efficiency gap resulting from the low implementation of energy efficiency measures In addition the study revealed that the most important factors impeding the implementation of cost effective energy efficiency technologies in the organizations are principally economic and financial barriers such as lack of budget funding and access to capital The study also revealed that these economic and financial barriers are linked to the lack of adequate government framework for commercial and industrial energy efficiency The study also showed that market factors related to cost reductions resulting from lowered energy use and threats of rising energy prices are the most important drivers for adapting energy efficiency technologies To motivate energy efficiency there should be established standards guidelines roadmaps regulations and enforcement of regulation suitable for the local environment which at present has not been executed completely in Malaysia

The Friction Project Robert I. Sutton, Huggy Rao, 2024-01-30 The definitive guide to eliminating the forces that make it harder more complicated or downright impossible to get things done in organizations Find out why Adam Grant says If every leader took the ideas in this book seriously the world would be a less miserable more productive place Every organization is plagued by destructive friction Yet some forms of friction are incredibly useful and leaders who attempt to improve workplace efficiency often make things even worse Drawing from seven years of hands on research The Friction Project by bestselling authors Robert I Sutton and Huggy Rao teaches readers how to become friction fixers Sutton and Rao kick off the book by unpacking how skilled friction fixers think and act like trustees of others time They provide friction forensics to help readers identify where to avert and repair bad organizational friction and where to maintain and inject good friction Then their help pyramid shows how friction fixers do their work from reframing friction troubles they can't fix right now so they feel less threatening to designing and repairing organizations The heart of the book digs into the causes and solutions for five of the most common and damaging friction troubles oblivious leaders addition sickness broken connections jargon monoxide and fast and frenzied people and teams Sound familiar Sutton and Rao are here to help They wrap things up with lessons for leading your own friction project including linking little things to big things the power of civility caring and love for propelling designs and repairs and embracing the mess that is an inevitable part of the process while still trying to clean it up
