China s participation in the United Nations UN There are two research components First the author seeks to find a pattern of China s multilateral diplomatic behavior in the UN by examining China s behavior toward peacekeeping operations and arms control issues during different leadership periods under Mao Zedong Deng Xiaoping and Jiang Zemin respectively Second a model is proposed to explain this pattern of behavior By marrying rationalism and constructivism this model argues that the amelioration of China s external security environment changes in its projected self image Furthermore China s consistently strong view of sovereignty determines its evolving pattern of behavior in the UN Chinese Foreign Policy Suisheng

De Keijzer,1998 In BIG DRAGON Dan Burstein joins with China specialist Arne de Keijzer to offer a comprehensive look at China and its future They suggest that no other country poses such significant business and political questions for the West and therefore the business world must develop new strategies for dealing with China The authors present a practical blueprint for business people policy makers and concerned citizens alike for maximising opportunity economic as well as political and minimising any chance of conflict In dealing with China the book warns that the West will have to revise its elitist view that its principles and mores are superior whether culturally economically or politically China the authors say will have to be dealt with on its own terms If the West fails to do so it will have dire consequences for the world The authors articulate a fresh intelligent and innovative business and political strategy rooted in realistic assessments of where China is coming from and where it is headed BIG DRAGON s strength lies in its recognition of the possible conflicts but also in the way it clearly identifies the way toward a creation of a new mutuality of economic and political interest between the West and China
