

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a mosque interior. In the foreground, many people are seen from behind, kneeling in prayer on red and patterned carpets. They are wearing various colored head coverings and clothing. The background shows the ornate architecture of the mosque, including large windows with colorful geometric patterns in shades of blue, green, and yellow. The overall atmosphere is one of solemnity and devotion.

Toward An Islamic Reformation Toward An Islamic Reformation:

Toward an Islamic Reformation Abdullahi Ahmed An Na'im, 2019-01-31 Toward an Islamic Reformation is an ambitious attempt to modernize Islamic law calling for reform of the historical formulations of Islamic law commonly known as Shari'a that is perceived by many Muslims to be part of the Islamic faith. As a Muslim, Abdullahi Ahmed An Na'im is sensitive to and appreciative of the delicate relationship between Islam as a religion and Islamic law. Nevertheless, he considers that the questions raised here must be resolved if the public law of Islam is to be implemented today. An Na'im draws upon the teachings and writings of Sudanese reformer Mahmoud Mohamed Taha to provide what some have called the intellectual foundations for a total reinterpretation of the nature and meaning of Islamic public law. Toward an Islamic Reformation

Abdullahi Ahmed al-An-Na'im, 'Abd-Allāh A. An-Na'im, 'Abd Allāh Muhammad al-Amīn Nu'ayyim, 1992 Toward an Islamic Reformation 'Abdallāh Aḥmad an-Na'im, 2017 Muslims and Global Justice Abdullahi Ahmed

An-Na'im, 2011-06-06 Over the course of his distinguished career, legal scholar Abdullahi Ahmed An Na'im has sought to reconcile his identity as a Muslim with his commitment to universal human rights. In Muslims and Global Justice, he advances the theme of global justice from an Islamic perspective, critically examining the role that Muslims must play in the development of a pragmatic rights-based framework for justice. An Na'im opens this collection of essays with a chapter on Islamic ambivalence toward political violence, showing how Muslims began grappling with this problem long before the 9/11 attacks. Other essays highlight the need to improve the cultural legitimacy of human rights in the Muslim world. As An Na'im argues, in order for a commitment to human rights to become truly universal, we must learn to accommodate a range of different reasons for belief in those rights. In addition, the author contends that building an effective human rights framework for global justice requires that we move toward a people-centered approach to rights. Such an approach would value foremost empowering local actors as a way of negotiating the paradox of a human rights system that relies on self-regulation by the state. Encompassing over two decades of An Na'im's work on these critical issues, Muslims and Global Justice provides a valuable theoretical approach to the challenge of realizing global justice in a world of profound religious and cultural difference. Human Rights Eva Brems, 2001-05-15 2/2 In the CRC An Islamic Reformation? Michaelle

Browsers, Charles Kurzman, 2004-01-01 This book brings together scholars with expertise in modern Islamic thought and practice to evaluate the claim that we are witnessing something tantamount to an Islamic Reformation by assessing the character and impact of various reformist trends in the Middle East and North Africa. Each chapter also addresses the question of the appropriateness and usefulness of comparisons between Christian and Islamic or Western and Eastern reformations. Crescent and Dove Qamar-ul Huda, 2010 Crescent and Dove looks at the relationship between contemporary Islam and peacemaking by tackling the diverse interpretations, concepts, and problems in the field of Islamic peacemaking. It addresses both theory and practice by delving into the intellectual heritage of Islam to discuss historical examples of addressing conflict in Islam and exploring the practical challenges of contemporary peacemaking in Arab countries Turkey Iran Pakistan and Indonesia Islamic Reform in South Asia Filippo Osella, Caroline Osella, 2013-05-16 The articles in this volume build up ethnographic analysis complementary to the historiography of South Asian Islam which has explored the emergence of reformism in the context of specific political and religious circumstances of nineteenth century British India Taking up diverse popular and scholarly debates as well as everyday religious practices this volume also breaks away from the dominant trend of mainstream ethnographic work which celebrates Sufi inspired forms of Islam as tolerant plural authentic and so on pitted against a reformist Islam Urging a more nuanced examination of all forms of reformism and their reception in practice the contributions here powerfully demonstrate the historical and geographical specificities of reform projects In doing so they challenge prevailing perspectives in which substantially different traditions of reform are lumped together into one reified category often carelessly shorthanded as wah habism and branded as extremist if not altogether demonised as terrorist Shaping the Current Islamic Reformation B.A. Roberson, 2004-08-02 Roberson goes beyond the media presentation of the impact of Islam in the Middle East to consider the reality that lies behind it Islamic Reform and Arab Nationalism Amal N. Ghazal, 2010-04-08 Bridging African and Arab histories this book examines the relationship between Islam nationalism and the evolution of identity politics from late 19th Century to World War II It provides a cross national cross regional analysis of religious reform nationalism anti colonialism from Zanzibar to Oman North Africa and the Middle East This book widens the scope of modern Arab history by integrating Omani rule in Zanzibar in the historiography of Arab nationalism and Islamic reform It examines the intellectual and political ties and networks between Zanzibar Oman Algeria Egypt Istanbul and the Levant and the ways those links shaped the politics of identity of the Omani elite in Zanzibar Out of these connections emerges an Omani intelligentsia strongly tied to the Arab cultural nahda and to movements of Islamic reform pan Islamism and pan Arabism The book examines Zanzibari nationalism as formulated by the Omani intelligentsia through the prism of these pan Islamic connections and in the light of Omani responses to British policies in Zanzibar The author sheds light on Ibadism an overlooked sect of Islam and its modern intellectual history and the role of the Omani elite in bridging Ibadism with pan Islamism and pan Arabism Although much has been written about nationalism in the Arab world this is the first book to discuss nationalism in Zanzibar in the wider context of religious reform and nationalism in the Arab world and the first to offer a new framework of analysis to the study of pan Islamic and pan Arab movements and nationalism
