O'Manique, 2004-05-13 O Manique critically examines the evolution of the policy response to AIDS in Sub Saharan Africa through a feminist political economy lens focusing on the relationship between neo liberalism the spread of AIDS and the hegemonic policy response It explores the ways in which AIDS has been constructed as a development problem and how AIDS knowledges and institutions have evolved and have shaped interventions in the AIDS sector Central to the analysis is a historical case study of Uganda

The Role of Family Planning and Targeted Credit Programs in Demographic Change in Bangladesh Shahidur R. Khandker, Muhammad Abdul

Latif, 1996-01-01 FIAS Occasional Paper No 6 Examines and compares the recent experiences of a number of developing countries in encouraging backward linkages the purchasing of goods and services from locally owned suppliers by companies controlled by foreign firms The authors argue that economic liberalization helps rather than hurts domestic suppliers that institutional support focusing on upgrading the capabilities of domestic suppliers is critical and that promotional programs combining public and private resources can accelerate linkage development

Developing the Nonfarm Sector in Bangladesh Shahid Yusuf, Praveen Kumar, 1996-01-01 IFC Discussion Paper No 30 Draws on a case study of a cement plant in Estonia to compare the private costs of curbing pollution with the social benefits that may accrue to the population The study concludes that the social benefits exceed private costs by a margin that sufficiently justifies the environmental investment

Grameen Bank Shahidur R. Khandker, M. A. Baqui Khalily, Zahed H. Khan, 1995-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No

295 The progress made by the countries of Central and Eastern Europe in privatizing state owned enterprises has created millions of new shareholders But for the citizenry to buy and sell shares these countries must develop stock markets and related institutions such as brokerages clearing and settling organizations and regulatory agencies This paper examines the role of capital markets in the new market economies of Central and Eastern Europe and to what extent governments in the region should encourage the development of such markets The authors address questions of whether the capital markets will serve merely as a forum for trading stocks or become a source of new equity capital to help restructure the enterprises of the region and whether governments should take a hands off approach by letting the necessary institutions develop as they are needed or should actively create stock exchanges and establish the overall legal and regulatory framework Beyond Privatization Bjorn Wellenius, Gregory C. Staple, 1996-01-01 World Bank Discussion Paper No 341 In 1994 Mexico successfully completed a first phase of telecommunications reforms which included the privatization of its state owned telephone company This report provides a concise overview of the second wave of reforms that began in 1995 and tracks related key events to May 1996 This second phase opened the markets to competition ensuring a greater diversity and better quality of services
