Law and Sacrifice Johan Van der Walt, 2014-06-11 In the wake of apartheid Law and Sacrifice draws on the uniquely expansive protection of fundamental rights now entrenched in the South African Constitution to outline a new theory of law The South African Constitution not only protects the rights of people against abuses of power by the state but also against abuses of power by private legal subjects Drawing upon the work of contemporary thinkers such as Martin Heidegger Hannah Arendt George Bataille Jacques Derrida Emmanuel Levinas and Jean Luc Nancy the author elicits the radical democratic potential of this horizontal notion of rights Johan van der Walt argues that apartheid must be understood as more than a racist abuse of power and here he articulates its sacrificial logic It is in going beyond this logic he maintains that the truly democratic potential of the South African Constitution can be understood in a radical formal and substantive equality that offers the legal basis for rethinking a post apartheid future Combining a rigorous theoretical understanding with a subtle political engagement Law and Sacrifice is a dazzling interrogation of the limits and possibilities of democratic pluralism It will be of interest to political and legal theorists as well as to those who are concerned with South African law and politics

The National Courts' Mandate in the European Constitution

Monica Claes, 2006-03-31 The reform of the European Constitution continues to dominate news headlines and has provoked a massive debate unprecedented in the history of EU law Against this backdrop Monica Claes book offers a bottom up view of how the Constitution might work taking the viewpoint of the national courts as her starting point and at the same time returning to fundamental principles in order to interrogate the myths of Community law Adopting a broad comparative approach she analyses the basic doctrines of Community law from both national constitutional perspectives as well as the more usual European perspective It is only by combining the perspectives of the EU and national constitutions she argues that a complete picture can be obtained and a solid theoretical base constitutional pluralism developed Her comparative analysis encompasses the law in France Belgium Denmark the Netherlands Germany Ireland Italy and the United Kingdom and in the course of her inquiry discusses a wide variety of prominent problems The book is structured around three main themes coinciding with three periods in the development of the judicial dialogue between the ECJ and the national courts The first focuses on the ordinary non constitutional national courts and how they have successfully adapted to the mandates developed by the ECJ in Simmenthal and Francovich The second examines the constitutional and other review courts and discusses the gradual transformation of the ECJ into a constitutional court and its relationship to the national constitutional courts The contrast is marked these courts are not specifically empowered by the case law of the ECJ and have reacted quite differently to the message from Luxembourg leaving them apparently on collision course with the ECJ in the areas of judicial Kompetenz Kompetenz and fundamental rights The third theme reprises the first two and places them in the context of the current debate on the Constitution for Europe and the Convention taking the perspective of the national courts as the starting point for a wide ranging examination of EU's constitutional fundamentals In so doing it argues that the new Constitution must accommodate the national perspective if it is to prove effective

Judicial Lawmaking and Administrative Law, 2005 The book before carries a broad title In the Dutch literature the terms lawfinding and lawmaking are often used interchangeably From a legal point of view however it makes quite a difference to the position of the court whether lawfinding or lawmaking is meant Why write a book about lawmaking by the courts just in the area of administrative law In administrative law the administration is positioned between the legislature and the judiciary The courts review decisions taken by the administration in implementing the law however where the administration has often been granted a degree of discretion the courts assess the lawfulness of the decision The relation administration judiciary raises so many specific questions that it justifies a book on judicial lawmaking in administrative matters The authors are all members of the research program Public Law of the Ius Commune School
