What Readers Do Beth Driscoll, 2024-02-21 Shining a spotlight on everyday readers of the 21st century Beth Driscoll explores how contemporary readers of Anglophone fiction interact with the book industry digital environments and each other We live in an era when book clubs bibliomemoirs Bookstagram and BookTok are as valuable to some readers as solitary reading moments The product of nearly two decades of qualitative research into readers and reading culture What Readers Do examines reading through three dimensions aesthetic conduct moral conduct and self care to show how readers intertwine private and social behaviors and both reinforce and oppose the structures of capitalism Analyzing reading as a post digital practice that is a synthesis of both print and digital modes and on and offline behaviors Driscoll presents a methodology for studying readers that connects book history literary studies sociology and actor network theory Arguing for the vitality agency and creativity of readers this book sheds light on how we read now and on how much more readers do than just read From Awareness to Commitment in Public Health Campaigns Myleea D. Hill, Marceline

Thompson-Hayes, 2017-06-27 Attempts to raise awareness on a multitude of health issues may actually be counter productive and even dangerous to solving contemporary health problems From Awareness to Commitment in Public Health Campaigns The Awareness Myth discusses several myths of the benefits of raising awareness Myleea Hill and Marceline Thompson Hayes argue that using awareness as an end point in public health campaigns is misguided and does more harm than good They offer a model of the current awareness culture that simply leads to an ever increasing cycle of awareness without behavioral change or sustained participation and support for causes Then they demonstrate how three factors recognition involvement knowledge seeking and education and participation intersect to create commitment to solving and alleviating health problems through various methods of communication social media mass communication and interpersonal communication Proceedings of the Fourth International Conference on Advances in Computer Engineering and Communication Systems (ICACECS 2023) C.
